WASHINGTON.

The Tenure-of-Office Act Signed by the President.

The Consular and Diplomatic Appointments to be Made Soon.

A Large Number of Nominations Confirmed by the Senate.

Debate in the Senate on the Pacific Railroad Bill.

Mr. Jenckes' Civil Service Bill Again Before the House.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.
WASHINGTON, Monday, April 5.

The doubt and uncertainty about the fate of the Tenure-of-Office act was dispelled this morning by the fact that the President approved the law at an early hour. Subsequently General PORTER, Private Secretary, announced the approval of the bill in the House, and finally set all rumors at rest. The act was subjected to a close scrutiny by the President and Attorney-General, and the President is fully of the opinion that he will be able to act under it without embarrassment, and that so far as the danger of any conflict with the Senate is concerned, that contingency is not likely to happen until that body takes the initiative by refusing to act upon nominations made in place of suspended officers.

THE PRESSURE OF OFFICE-SEEKERS.

The Pressure upon the President, the Secretary of the Treasury, Postmaster-General, and Commissioner of Internal Revenue to-day in behalf of office, was greater than on any single day heretofore. The fact that Congress has agreed to adjourn next Saturday stimulates everybody to secure action on the pending nominations at once. The Senate is very anxious to be relieved of the necessity of an Executive Session after adjournment, and evinced the fact to-day by a very large number of confirmations, nearly clearing the calendars of the several committees. The President remarked this morning that he would try and send in all the important nominations before Saturday, so as to obviate the necessity of an extra session.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

There was no legislation in the Senate to-day. Almost the entire session was occupied by the discussion of the Union Pacific Railroad bill, on which Senators were unusually prolix. The proposition under consideration was the amendment of Mr. SHERMAN, authorizing the President to fix the point of junction, on the report of a board of uninterested and eminent gentlemen. Messrs. HOWARD, SHERMAN, WILLIAMS, THAYER, TRUMBULL, COLE and STEWART made speeches, which, if they served no other purpose, frittered away the day until 4 o'clock, when, without reaching a vote, the body went into Executive Session. The debate took a wide range, and a great deal of ingenuity was displayed by the adherents of the respective lines. Mr. THAYER stated that when Secretary SCOFIELD had learned the intention of the last Administration to issue the bonds to the Central Pacific Company, he protested against such action in the strongest manner. The result of which was the retention of bonds to the amount of $1,000,000, which would otherwise have been paid to the same corporation. Mr. HOWARD proposed that Generals SHERIDAN, THOMAS, McDOWELL and HALLECK, and THOS. J. DURANT be appointed a Board of Commissioners to establish the point of junction, and Mr. WILLIAMS suggests that the question be settled according to the legal rights of the contesting roads, which latter modification of his amendment Mr. SHERMAN adopts. The expression of views to-day was not general or comprehensive enough to justify the formation of a safe opinion as to which amendment, if any, the Senate will agree to adopt. The agents of both roads are sedulously working to secure the adoption of such legislation as will inure to the interests of their respective companies.

ANNEXATION SCHEME.

The atmosphere of Washington ever since the 4th of March has been full of annexation. The feeling among politicians and others in favor of the acquisition of new territory appears to grow stronger day by day, and if public opinion on this subject should gather strength in the proportion that it has for the last few weeks, it is probable that there will be a pretty strong annexation party in the United States before the close of the year. Even now it is gravely and confidently asserted that the present Administration will put this question in the foreground of its policy, but nothing has been said so far by the Executive or any of his Ministers to justify these statements. The Banks resolutions, which were introduced a few days ago, and the Cuban sympathizers who are at work here, and a dozen other minor influences, fan the sentiment. The newspaper articles in reference to the subject are also not without effect, and the restless spirits, who are always numerous in Washington, are industriously turning every little occurrence and incident to their advantage. Some are looking toward the British Provinces, and others at Mexico; but at the present time the great majority have their eyes on Cuba, which latter they expect to fall into our lap within a short time. The Foreign Affairs Committee of the House, at their meeting this morning, discussed the St. Domingo annexation project, but arrived at no conclusions.

THE CURRENCY.

The Banking and Currency Committee held a special meeting this morning and further considered the Currency bill. Hon. AMASA WALKER occupied the Committee for nearly an hour in an address upon the subject of the currency, the amount now in circulation, and its relative proportion as compared with the amount in circulation before the war. The Committee reached no conclusion on the distribution section. The members are very much at sea as to whether any practical benefit will be derived from it or from any similar proposition. The impression prevails that after all nothing will be done at the present session.

THE PENNSYLVANIA CONTESTED ELECTION.

The Pennsylvania contested election case of LEONARD MYERS against JOHN MOFFATT was concluded in the Committee on Elections this morning, but no vote was taken. There is little doubt but that Mr. MYERS will be awarded the seat by a majority of the Committee.

CONSULAR AND DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENTS.

A large number of Consular and Diplomatic appointments, including some of the more important foreign Missions, will be transmitted to the Senate within the next two or three days; some of them will be names heretofore mentioned in connection with leading positions. The last prominent name understood to be positively fixed upon is that of Hon. S. SHELLABARGER, late member of Congress from Ohio, as Minister to Portugal.

NOMINATIONS BY THE PRESIDENT.

About forty nominations were transmitted to the Senate to-day. The most important of which were that of Ex-Congressman ASHLEY, of Ohio, as Governor of Montana, and Ex-Congressman H. D. WASHBURN, of Indiana, as Surveyor for the same Territory. Mr. ASHLEY was strongly backed by powerful political influence, over one hundred members of Congress having signed his application. It was thought on Saturday that there was some hitch in the matter, because his did not come in with other nominations of the same character at that time; but whatever it was, the hero of impeachment carried off the prize to-day with flying colors.

INDIAN APPROPRIATIONS.

The House Committee on Appropriations reported back the Senate amendments to the Indian Appropriation bill this afternoon. They disagreed to all the Senate amendments covering expenditures for General SHERMAN'S recent Indian treaties, amounting in the aggregate to $2,900,000. They agree to the Quaker proposition for the appointment of ten Commissioners by the President, with an unimportant modification: In lieu of the treaty appropriations proposed by the President, they propose to place at the disposal of the President the sum of $2,000,000, to be used by him at his discretion for the purpose of feeding the Indians and providing means to prevent outbreaks. He is required to make a report at the next session of Congress of the manner in which this fund has been disbursed.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

The Senate Committee on Appropriations will add very few items to the Deficiency Appropriation bill, and will report it to-morrow. They will make appropriations for finishing the Custom-houses at Portland and Ogdensburg, and will add $30,000 for the removal of the hydraulic weight used in the hydrostatic printing of the Treasury Department, which process has been abolished by Secretary BOUTWELL.

SUBMARINE CABLES.

Mr. STOCKTON made a good Democratic State's rights speech in the Senate to-day, on the bill to authorize the New-York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company to land their submarine cables on the shores of the United States, which was called up by Mr. CHANDLER. Mr. STOCKTON held that Congress had no authority to legislate on the subject, it being, in his opinion, a matter entirely for the States and not for the General Government.

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

The Senate went into Executive Session at 4 o'clock to-day, and in about an hour confirmed 160 nominations. If all of President GRANT'S appointments should be as promptly acted on, and there is no reason to believe that they will not, the Senate will not be detained here many days after next Saturday, when Congress will in all probability adjourn. Some action, however, must be taken in the Alabama treaty, which is now on the table of the Senate. Mr. SUMNER, it is understood, has prepared a speech on the subject, but there is no doubt whatever of its almost unanimous rejection.

CUBAN ARRESTS.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, at its meeting this morning, heard a statement from EMILIA C. DEVILLANDRE, daughter of CASSANDRA, relative to the arrest of her father by the Spanish authorities. Subsequently she had an interview with the President on the same subject.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The United States Supreme Court have agreed to adjourn on Thursday of this week, until the first Monday of October. It is understood that they have determined in consultation that the decision on the legal-tender cases shall be postponed until that time.

THE DARIEN TREATY.

It is not true, as has been stated, that the Senate of Congress of the United States of Colombia have refused to ratify the Darien Ship Canal Treaty. A report against it has been made by the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs of that body. American interests are somewhat prejudiced in that quarter by the fact that the British Chargé d'Affaires at Bogota is the notorious BUNCE who was driven from Charleston by order of Mr. SEWARD for his rebel proclivities.

ARRIVALS IN THE CITY.

Among the arrivals in the city to-day is John JAY, of New-York. He had an interview with the Secretary of State during the morning, and called at the White House this evening at the President's request, where he spent some time. His name is mentioned in connection with both the Austrian and English missions.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Monday, April 5.

THE COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS.

The Committee on Ways and Means to-day passed a resolution that they will personally examine into all the Custom-house warehouses, revenue offices, &c., and everything pertaining to Revenue laws, in order to enable them to frame a Tariff bill by the next session of Congress. They will probably extend their visits from Boston to San Francisco, commencing at New-York in May next.

THE COMMITTEE ON BANKING AND CURRENCY.

The Committee on Banking and Currency had before it this morning the bill in relation to currency. Mr. JONES, of Kentucky, moved to report it back to the House with a recommendation that it do pass. That motion was rejected. The Committee then proceeded to consider the proposed amendments to it, but had not completed its consideration when it adjourned.

THE CUBAN SPECIAL AGENT.

Various friends of Cuba proposed to serenade to-morrow night the Special Envoy or Agent of the Cubans; but they have abandoned the design, in accordance with his wishes, he not being willing, at this juncture, to accept such a compliment, nor prepared to respond to it.

SAN DOMINGO.

A certified copy of public works, grants, franchises, &c., has been received by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs from the Minister of the Interior of San Domingo, which shows that the statements made as to the land monopolies and other jobs are without foundation. The debt of the Republic on the 9th of March, 1869, did not exceed $600,000, including certain unadjusted claims.

For the seventy-five or eighty positions in the office of Superintendent of the United States Treasury, there are more than fifteen hundred applications.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

The following officers have been ordered to report to the Navy Department for examination preliminary to promotion:

Lieutenants T. F. Jewell, D. C. Woodrow and E. M. Stedman. Masters George W. DeLong, W. W. Meade, W. H. Elliott, E. S. Houston, Benjamin Long, Geo. M. Book, J. A. Vaughan, L. A. Kingsley and John Hazelett. Ensigns A. A. Blair, M. J. Moore, B. S. Richards, A. B. Carter, C. B. Gill, Wm. Waltz.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, April 5.

Mr. TRUMBULL, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported without amendment the bill prescribing an oath of office to be taken by the persons who participated in the late rebellion, but who are not disqualified from holding office by the Fourteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States. It provides that when such persons shall be elected or appointed to any office of trust or honor under the United States Government and shall not be able to take the oath prescribed July 2, 1862, on account of participation in the late rebellion, they shall in lieu thereof, before entering upon the duties of office, take the oath prescribed in the act of July 11, 1868, prescribing "an oath of office to be taken by persons from whom legal disabilities shall have been removed.

HOT SPRINGS RESERVATION.

Mr. THURMAN from the same committee reported with amendments the bill for the sale of the Hot Springs Reservation in Arkansas.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. SCHURZ introduced a bill to create St. Louis and Cincinnati ports of entry, and to regulate the appraisement and inspection of imports there. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. SUMNER introduced a bill to prevent the Courts of the United States from enforcing contracts concerning slaves. Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

Mr. CHANDLER called up the bill to authorize the New-York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company to land its submarine cable on the shores of the United States. The pending amendment was that offered by Mr. STOCKTON, authorizing any cable company, chartered by the laws of any State, to land its cable on the shores of the United States, subject ultimately to regulation by Congress.

Mr. STOCKTON declared himself opposed to all legislation upon the subject; but, if it must be legislated upon, he thought the bill ought first to go to the Committee on the Judiciary, because it involved the question of the right of Congress to authorize a foreign Company to land its cable on the shores of a State of this Union. He believed that Congress had no such right, nor any right to legislate for the making of telegraphs or railroads, but only the right to "regulate commerce" upon roads and canals when made by the States. In the maintenance of this view he made a long argument.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The expiration of the morning hour brought up the unfinished business of Saturday, the joint resolution to protect the interests of the United States in the Union Pacific Railroad.

Mr. CHANDLER moved to postpone it, and continue the consideration of the Cable bill. Lost.

The pending question was on the amendment offered by Mr. SHERMAN, authorizing the President of the United States to fix the point of junction of the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific Railroads, and for that purpose, if he deems it expedient, to appoint a Board of eminent citizens not exceeding five in number to examine and report in regard to the proper point of junction, and also in regard to the condition of each road, and what sum will be required to complete as a first-class railroad, according to law.

Mr. HOWARD opposed the amendment. He did not think it wise to invest the President with such an extraordinary discretion, nor did he believe that the President would be willing to exercise it.

Mr. SHERMAN agreed that the point of junction must be fixed on the general route contemplated by the Secretary of the Interior; but he objected to the amendment of the Senator from Michigan, because it required the Commissioner to select some point on a designated line, as if a line had been definitely fixed by law, which, in Mr. SHERMAN'S judgment, was not the fact. It was well known to every Senator that the line claimed to have been fixed by the Secretary of the Interior was in dispute, and that charges had been made in connection with it, and were being investigated in the House of Representatives. It was now necessary that the point of junction should be fixed by some competent authority, because the rival roads were overlapping each other. The Union Pacific Company had already completed its road thirty miles beyond Ogden.

Mr. CONKLING—Which is the line fixed by the Secretary of the Interior?

Mr. SHERMAN said that that was one of the disputed points, but however that might be, the responsibility of fixing the point of junction might after all rest on the President of the United States, and he (Mr. SHERMAN) therefore thought it better to place that responsibility upon the President at once, and let him select fit Commissioners, than for Congress to select certain army officers and send them away from their important official duties to do this work.

Mr. HOWARD asked Mr. SHERMAN whether he did not consider that the letter of the Secretary of the Interior of the 25th of October last had the effect of the law.

Mr. SHERMAN had not examined the question closely, but he did not believe that the Secretary of the Interior had any right to do more toward fixing the exact route of the road than to approve the general line of survey.

Mr. CONKLING, assuming that the letter of the Secretary of the Interior had the force of law, was unable to see how more than one of these companies could lawfully claim bonds from the Government.

Mr. SHERMAN denied that the Secretary of the Interior could, by the approval of a map of questionable accuracy, fix the exact line of the road.

Mr. HOWARD knew that certain persons had been very active in representing at this and the last session of Congress that the map in question was a fraud and humbug, and could not be laid upon the ground at all; but he knew also that others contradicted these statements, and insisted that the line laid down on the map was a genuine line, capable of being laid on the ground, and he thought the difference of opinion a very important reason why Congress should interpose and settle the question.

Mr. THAYER said it would be a gross perversion of the legislative power to make any new law affecting the rights of these parties, when they were already engaged in litigation to determine their respective rights. He was not in favor of any legislation on the subject at this time, and he protested against any legislation which would give either party an advantage over the other.

Mr. NYE asked him why he wished to disturb the existing law?

Mr. THAYER replied that there was now a law fixing the point of junction.

Mr. NYE thought the Senator from Nebraska had better read the statute on the subject.

Mr. THAYER said he had read the statute. Neither road, he said, was building upon the line laid down on this map; and when that line was pretended to be located no portion of the road had been built.

Mr. CONKLING said that if neither Company was building on the line, then the question was purely an administrative one, and it would be the duty of the President of the United States and the Secretary of the Treasury to refuse to issue subsidy bonds, upon the ground that the Companies, not having built upon this line, have not complied with the law. In this view the Executive could act without any further legislation.

Mr. THAYER said that that line was nearly an imaginary line, and that upon the map containing it, wrongfully filed, the Central Pacific Railroad Company had obtained from the Government bonds to the amount of $2,000,000.

Mr. CONKLING—Why wrongfully filed?

Mr. THAYER said he would enlighten the Senator from New-York in regard to that; and then had read as a part of his speech a long extract from an affidavit by General G. M. DODGE, Chief Engineer of the Union Pacific Railroad, asserting that the map in question was perfectly useless in an engineering point of view used for tracing the line, upon the ground that it was received in direct violation of the instructions of the Interior Department. Mr. THAYER, continuing his remarks, asked the Senator from Michigan whether he thought the Union Pacific Company was authorized to build its road on the same line, and to get bonds from the Government upon that road?

Mr. HOWARD replied that he certainly did think so.

Mr. THAYER thought that view preposterous. In his judgment, either the one road or the other must have the line, and the Central Pacific Company claimed it as its line.

Mr. HOWARD had never been informed that the Central Company claimed that line as its line exclusively, and he did not believe that it had ever done, or contemplated doing so.

Mr. THAYER—Why, then, did they file the map?

Mr. HOWARD—They filed a map because they had a right to suggest to the Secretary of the Interior what the line should be; the same right that existed in behalf of the Union Pacific Company. But the Secretary of the Interior having, under the act of 1866, given his consent and approval to it, it became the line for both these Companies.

Mr. THAYER said he had difficulty in believing that the Senator from Michigan was serious in that view. If he was right, why was the Central Pacific Company authorized to locate a line for the Union Pacific Railroad?

Mr. HOWARD denied that it was so authorized, and read a letter addressed to him by the Secretary of the Interior, of the 17th of March last, stating that the action of his predecessor, in approving the location made by the Central Pacific Company, was not designed to confer on that Company any exclusive right to build the road over the route in the map then filed, and that the equal right of each Company to continue the construction of its road in a continuous and complete line, until it should meet the other road, was not at all called in question or affected by that action.

Mr. COLE thought that if the controversy was to be determined according to the legal rights of the parties, as suggested by the Senator from Oregon, the determination of it belonged to another tribunal than Congress. He regretted exceedingly that the controversy had arisen, but he did not think even now that it would be a serious obstacle in the way of the completion of the Pacific Railroad. He desired that the great half-way house on the road across the continent should be at or about Salt Lake, and he believed the interest and convenience of the public would be promoted by having it in that neighborhood. Both the Central and Union Companies had had certain difficulties to contend against, but he thought the latter had not taken so much trouble as the former to overcome the obstacles. In the mountain region, for instance, the California Company had built stone sheds over its road for twenty-five or thirty miles to protect the road from obstructions by the snow, while on the other road no such precautions had been taken, and great inconvenience and delay had occurred in consequence. The Central Company, he said, was exerting itself to the utmost to reach the proper point for a junction, and he believed that this controversy would soon be settled.

Mr. STEWART called attention to the extraordinary character of the House bill, which he said proposed to put the Union Pacific Railroad Company on wheels and move it about the country to exempt it from the jurisdiction of the local Courts, and give it other extraordinary privileges contrary to the general rule of law on that subject. He thought, however, that he had in his possession a document which explained the whole affair. Here Mr. STEWART read a paper in the nature of an agreement, dated Oct. 18, 1867, and signed by OLIVER AMES, JNO. B. ALLEY and others, and executed before DANIEL M. GILLETT, notary public, New-York, the exact purport of which was not understood by the reporters. He had, also, another document, (holding up a yellow-covered pamphlet,) which alleged that Mr. JAMES FISK "was a great rascal." He did not know Mr. FISK, but for his present purpose it was not necessary to question the truth of this allegation. This pamphlet further stated that "this Mr. FISK had sought to arraign the Union Pacific Railroad Company before a very rascally Court." This might also be true, although he had looked over the record of the proceedings of this Court in this matter, and had failed to find anything to warrant the allegation. But what did this rascal FISK allege in this rascally Court? First, that there was a conspiracy between a certain lot of people calling themselves the Credit Mobilier, a ring inside the Pacific Railroad Company, to swindle all the rest of the world, and FISK certainly made out a pretty strong case. He alleged that the Credit Mobilier had made enormous dividends by using the Pacific Railroad, which the members of the Credit Mobilier admitted. FISK also went so far as to charge that certain members of Congress were interested in this arrangement; and he (STEWART) had heard it stated that members of the House Committee on the Pacific Railroad were interested, not only in that road but also in the Credit Mobilier, and had never heard it denied.

Mr. DAVIS—Who are the Credit Mobilier? Give us the names.

Mr. STEWART—I don't know them. I know some of them, but I don't know all of them. That is what Mr. FISK proposes to let us know if we let him alone. [Laughter.] But that is not so material. It is alleged that they are incumbering the road with contracts ahead for their own benefit. Now it may be that the Government has an important interest in this matter. I don't care so much about these people making these large dividends, providing the Government and the country get a good road, and provided the work is in the hands of men who will not become insolvent; but I have heard it stated, and that by Senators who pretended to know something about it, that this Union Pacific Company was liable to become insolvent any day. If that should come to pass, the result would be that the first mortgage bonds would be foreclosed, and the Government lien would be cut off, and this Congress would be held responsible for it.

At 4 o'clock, Mr. STEWART gave way for a motion to go into Executive Session, which was carried. After the Executive Session, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Under the call of States, bills and joint resolutions were introduced, read twice and referred as follows:

By Mr. ELA—To provide for printing the Congressional Record.

By Mr. JENCKES—To establish a Department of Justice.

By Mr. NEGLEY—To reduce the number of the officers of the army.

By Mr. WELKER—To provide a uniform system of education for public schools in the District of Columbia; also, to provide a Criminal Code for the District of Columbia.

By Mr. LAWRENCE—To establish a Law Department; also, to preserve the purity of elections and the right of free discussion in the unreconstructed States.

By Mr. TRIMBLE—For an appropriation of $100,000 for a Custom-house, Post Office, &c., at Paducah, Ky.

By Mr. ARNELL—Making a regrant of lands to the Nashville and Decatur Railroad.

By Mr. SMITH, of Tennessee—For an appropriation of $200,000 for a Custom-house and Post Office at Memphis, Tenn.

By Mr. JULIAN—Declaring the lands constituting the Fort Cullom military reservation in Colorado subject to preëmption for homesteads.

THE CHEROKEE INDIAN TREATIES.

Mr. JULIAN, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a joint resolution to annul and declare void so much of the Cherokee Indian Treaties of August, 1866, and June, 1868, as authorize the sale of their lands, and all contracts, &c., purporting to be made thereunder, such lands to be subject to settlement, entry and sale at $1 25 per acre. The joint resolution was passed—yeas 98, nays 35.

THE CHARGES AGAINST JUDGE BUSTEED.

Mr. SHANKS offered a resolution referring to the Judiciary Committee the charges against RICHARD BUSTEED, District Judge of the United States for Alabama, and the testimony heretofore taken, with instructions to continue the investigation, and with power to act through a sub-committee during the recess and to send for persons and papers.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved to lay the resolution on the table. Negatived—yeas 52, nays 67.

The resolution was then adopted—67 to 47.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY CURRENCY ACT.

Mr. COBURN introduced a bill supplementary to the Currency act of July 31, 1864.

While it was being read the morning hour expired, and the bill went over till Monday next.

SENATE BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS.

The House then, at 1:15 o'clock, proceeded to the business on the Speaker's table, and disposed thereof as follows:

The Senate joint resolution for printing of the Agricultural Report of 20,000 copies for the Senate, 180,000 for the House, and 23,000 for the Commissioner of Agriculture, was referred to the Committee on Printing.

The Senate bill to provide for the pavement of Pennsylvania-avenue was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

The Senate bill for the relief from political disabilities of JAMES C. TAYLOR, of Virginia. Referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

The Senate bill to carry into effect the Convention of July 4, 1868, between the United States and Mexico for the adjustment of claims. Passed.

The Senate bill to continue in force the act to extend the charter of Washington City. Passed.

The Senate bill for the relief of S. and H. SAYLE. Referred to the Committee on Claims.

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE CANVASSERS.

Mr. PAINE, from the Committee on Elections, reported a resolution for the appointment of a Select Committee to investigate the charges made by the Board of State Cavassers of South Carolina, in reference to the system of terrorism, conscriptions and assassinations, &c., which prevented a fair canvass in the Third and Fourth Congressional Districts of South Carolina at the last election, to sit at such times and places as it may determine, in Washington and South Carolina, with power to send for persons, papers, &c.

After a brief discussion, Mr. PAINE withdrew the resolution for the present.

CONTESTED ELECTION CASE.

Mr. BURDETT presented the report of the Committee on Elections in the contested election case from the Fourth District of South Carolina, declaring A. S. WALLACE entitled prima facie to the seat, and gave notice that he would call it up for action to-morrow.

Mr. RANDALL presented a minority report on the same case.

THE TENURE-OF-OFFICE BILL SIGNED.

A message from the President announced that he had approved and signed the Tenure-of-Office bill.

BUSINESS ON THE SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The House again went to the business on the Speaker's table, and disposed thereof as follows:

SELMA AND GADSDEN RAILROAD.

The Senate bill to revive the grant of lands for a railroad in Alabama, from Selma to Gadsden, and to confirm it to the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad Company. Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

GUARDIANS FOR MINOR INDIAN CHILDREN.

The Senate joint resolution authorizing the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to appoint guardians or trustees for minor Indian children who may be entitled to pensions or bounties. Referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

The Senate joint resolution extending the time to construct a railroad from the St. Croix River or Lake, to the west end of Lake Superior and to Bayfield.

Mr. JULIAN opposed its passage, and moved its reference to the Committee on Public Lands, with an amendment restricting the sale of the lands to actual settlers.

Mr. WASHBURN, of Wisconsin, advocated the bill, and said that the opposition to it came from a rival interest, the Pennsylvania Railroad. He hoped it would not be referred, as reference would delay for twelve months longer the construction of the road. He repeated, in reply to a question by Mr. LAWRENCE, that the principal opposition to the bill came from the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, and said that company had a heavy lobby around the House.

Mr. JULIAN disclaimed all knowledge of any opposition coming from that quarter. His opposition was in the interest of poor men who wanted to settle on the public lands.

Mr. WASHBURN declared that the actual settlers in the counties through which the railroad was to be built were anxious for the passage of the bill.

Mr. JULIAN expressed his surprise at the assurance of the gentleman from Wisconsin in making the statement. It had not been denied in the Senate that the actual settlers were opposed to the renewal of the grant.

Mr. WASHBURN—I deny it unequivocally. The land is in my district, and I ought to know.

Mr. JULIAN—The talk about the lobby is the old story of "stop thief." The roaring of the lobby has been on the side of the gentleman from Wisconsin. It does not lie in the gentleman's mouth to talk about the roaring of the lobby.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, opposed the bill because he had set himself against all railroad subsidies, whether inland or money. He said this road was unnecessary, as there was a railroad partially built, starting from Lake Superior, fourteen miles from the terminus of this road, and running to the Mississippi River. He did not think it well to take two millions of acres of the best timber lands in the West for the purpose of building up a rival road.

THE INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. DAWES, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported back the Indian Appropriation bill with the Senate amendment, which was made the special order for to-morrow.

RECONSTRUCTION OF VIRGINIA.

Mr. FARNSWORTH introduced a joint resolution authorizing the submission of the Virginia Constitution to a vote of the people, and authorizing the election of the State officers provided by that Constitution and of Members of Congress. Referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

SOUTH CAROLINA ELECTIONS.

Mr. BURR offered a resolution directing an investigation into the elections in the Third and Fourth Districts of South Carolina. Referred to the Committee on Elections.

The House then, at 4:30, took a recess until 7:30, the evening session to be for general debate only.

EVENING SESSION.

The House met again at 7:30 o'clock, Mr. BLAIR, of Michigan, in the Chair, for general debate.

REFORM IN THE CIVIL SERVICE.

Mr. JENCKES addressed the House on the subject of reform in the Civil Service. He said that while every one admitted the necessity of reform, no one had brought forward any measures to accomplish it. He, therefore, pressed his, although at all times willing to accept a better. His bill dropped the machinery of a new department, and simply proposed a Board of Examiners, who would be the civil staff of the Administration for the purpose of ascertaining who were fit persons for office. It did not interfere with the political offices, but applied only to the subordinate. He gave reasons why success may be hoped for in this attempt, and showed how this mode of selection was consistent with the original practice and theory of the Government. By the present mode, no actual judgment was obtained upon the fitness of candidates, the choice depending upon patronage and favor, and political and personal influence. He described the evils growing out of the intermingling of Legislative and Executive duties, and showed how they were kept distinct during the first forty years of the Government.

ST. DOMINGO.

Mr. ORTH, next addressed the House in advocacy of a resolution which he had offered at the close of the last session, for the admission into the Union of the territory of St. Domingo on the following conditions:

First, That the people of St. Domingo should adopt a republican form of Territorial Government by deputies in convention assembled. Second, That the action of the people should be with the consent and coöperation of the existing Government of that Republic. Third, That such form of government should be thereafter submitted to Congress for its approval. Fourth, that the admission of the Territory should be with a view to the ultimate establishment of a State Government, republican in form, in conformity with the Constitution of the United States, and with the approval of Congress. The object of the resolution had been fully accomplished in having brought the subject before Congress and the people for consideration.

The friends of the measure did not shrink from such consideration, feeling satisfied that the practical sense of the people would easily comprehend and appreciate the national importance of so valuable an acquisition. He proceeded to comment upon the advantages—political, commercial and material—of the acquisition of St. Domingo.

Mr. NIBLACK asked his colleague whether he considered an increase of the colored population of this country desirable? If so, he suggested a modification of the Naturalization laws, so as to allow people other than white to emigrate and be naturalized.

Mr. ORTH suggested that his colleague should introduce such a bill.

Mr. NIBLACK would do so under no circumstances. He simply wished to understand his colleague's position on that point.

Mr. ORTH replied that if his colleague did not understand his position on that point after being with him in Congress four years, he could not now undertake to enlighten him.

Mr. ORTH concluded his remarks, and then the House, at 9:30 o'clock, adjourned.

CONNECTICUT.

Connecticut Follows New-Hampshire with a Republican Victory.

Marshall Jewell Elected Governor by a Small Majority.

Three Congressmen and a Majority in the Legislature Probably Secured.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.
HARTFORD, Monday, April 6—1:30 A. M.

The State election passed quietly, with a fair day and a light vote. At this hour the returns are still incomplete, there being twenty towns yet to hear from, but the Democrats concede the election of MARSHALL JEWELL, Republican, for Governor, over JAMES ENGLISH, Democrat, and the present incumbent of the office, by a small majority.

JULIUS L. STRONG, Republican, is elected to Congress from the First District by 781 over JAMES DIXON, Democrat. In the Second District it is claimed that STEPHEN W. KELLOGG, Republican, is elected, defeating JAMES F. BABCOCK, Democrat, the Republicans gaining 624 in New-Haven over the vote of last Spring. In the Third District, H. H. STARKWEATHER, Republican, is reëlected by a good majority. In the Fourth District there is no doubt that WILLIAM H. BARNUM, Democrat, is reëlected by about 500 majority. This gives a Republican gain of the State ticket and two Congressmen. The Legislature is close, but probably a small Republican majority.

The Republicans gain largely in Hartford and New-Haven Counties. The Democrats gain in Windham and Fairfield Counties.

It is said, though it seems incredible, that JAMES GALLAGHER, Chairman of the State Democratic Committee, was defeated in his own city for Mayor by 85 votes. Last Spring New-Haven gave 2,258 majority for ENGLISH.

Associated Press Dispatch.
HARTFORD, Monday, April 5—10 P. M.

Returns are coming in well for the Republicans, indicating the election of the State ticket by about one thousand majority, and the election of STRONG over DIXON for Congress in the First District.

Returns from forty towns give 821 net Republican gain over last Spring's vote.

The Hartford Times (Dem.) says: "The vote of the State will fall 10,000 behind that of last April. Hartford falls off over 400 and New-Haven over 600. The result on Governor is close, with chances in favor of JEWELL. The Democrats elect Congressmen in the Second and Fourth, and the Republicans in the First and Third Districts. The Legislature shows considerable Democratic gains, but it will probably be Republican in both branches by reduced majorities."

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Ship "Foster" Once More—Fat-Boiling Establishments—Cleaning the Streets—Miscellaneous Matters.

The Metropolitan Board of Health met yesterday afternoon, President G. B. LINCOLN in the chair.

THE "FOSTER" CASE.

Commissioner STONE called for the report which Sanitary Superintendent HARRIS was recently directed to make, as to who authorized the landing in this City of the passengers of the ship James Foster, Jr., who had been exposed to typhus fever during the last passage of that vessel to this port.

A lengthy discussion followed, in which a majority of the Board expressed their desire that the report should be withheld until next week, in order to afford the Sanitary Superintendent an opportunity to obtain more definite information on the subject than that which he then possessed. Commissioner STONE insisted upon having the report, as far as completed, immediately, and it was thereupon ordered to be printed.

The report was exceedingly lengthy, and was, substantially, as follows:

None were landed from the ship James Foster, Jr., at Castle Garden, who at that time were sick with the fever. Ninety-seven well persons who had been exposed to the disease were landed. These registered themselves as intending to depart immediately for eleven different States and Canada, but it was afterward ascertained that from fifty to sixty of that number had taken lodgings in this City and Brooklyn, where they have since remained. Only seven of the ninety-seven were seized with the fever after they had left the ship. Fifteen others of the same company were subsequently sent to the hospital, suffering from various diseases consequent upon starvation and other cruelties perpetrated upon them during the voyage. The houses wherein the fifty or sixty referred to above were lodging had been kept under strict sanitary observance by the authorities to this time, and no cases of sickness resulting from contact with them had been seen.

The report concluded in these words:

The history and meaning of the case is simply this: Barbarity, starvation and the infection of typhus fever had killed a great number of the people on the James Foster, Jr., and after the Health Officer had sent forty-eight sick and infected persons to Ward's Island hospitals, he officially released the remaining ninety-seven emigrants, and the ship from all restraints of Quarantine. The Board of Health having no agent or officer at the Quarantine station, were not informed of the fact at the time of such release. The Sanitary Superintendent of the Metropolitan District having no power to command or direct the Health Officer, could only inform the Quarantine office, and the owners and consignees of the ship, and the general agent of the Commissioners of Emigration at the emigrant landing, that the Board of Health would require that its official permit should be obtained for the landing of the emigrant passengers, and that such permit would be based upon the Health Officer's assurances of safety to land them. Such information was given to all these persons on the 10th of March (the day previous to the landing.) The events which followed, and the testimony which has come into our hands, show that each person concerned in the release and transfer of the ninety-seven emigrants from Quarantine asserts that he was not responsible for their landing. The sanitary code was openly disregarded in this instance by all the parties concerned in the transportation and landing of the passengers; but as this is the only case since the organization of the Board in which a permit of the Board of Health for an emigrant passenger ship to leave Quarantine, or where any restraint upon emigrant passengers has been demanded by the Board, it is not strange that such views of irresponsibility were entertained in this case. The Health Officer had, under the laws, (see act of 1863, sections 24 and 58,) a right to send forward the entire company of passengers of that ship to the care and sanitary safekeeping of the Commissioners of Emigration, the sick to the hospital on Ward's Island, and all others (those exposed to the infection) to whatever place that officer and the Commissioners of Emigration agreed upon, this Board of Health permitting, whether such place should be Ward's Island, Castle Garden, or some other spot on shore within the Metropolitan District. The Health Officer declares that he did not elect any particular spot for the sanitary care of the ninety-seven passengers in this instance, but under regulations that were practically instructions those passengers were landed without the Board's permit.

Finally, Superintendent HARRIS recommended that in the future the Health Officer should be instructed to notify him, officially, by telegram, and also by letter, at least two hours prior to releasing any ship from quarantine, of his intention so to do, in order to furnish an opportunity for preventing the landing of passengers without the required permit from the Board of Health.

After the report had been read, Commissioner SWINBURN, in self-justification, addressed the Board, and in doing so quoted the sections 24 and 58 of the Quarantine laws, wherein it is directed that,

"Typhus or ship fever patients shall be sent to and supported at, Ward's Island."

And that,

"The Commissioners of Emigration shall, by the order and direction of the Health Officer, receive and take charge of all passengers arriving at the port of New-York, who shall have been exposed to the infection or contagion of small-pox or ship fever, to be kept elsewhere than on Staten Island, and the said Commissioners of Emigration, for the purpose of defraying the expenses therefor, shall be entitled to receive from the owners, masters, consignees or agents of the vessels arriving at the port of New-York, the sum of twenty-five cents for each passenger so arriving, to be collected in the same manner that commutation moneys are collected by said Commissioners of Emigration."

Thus authorized by law, said Commissioner SWINBURNE, the Deputy Health Officer, in the absence of his superior, sent the fever patients, and those who were evidently in the incipient stages of the disease, to Ward's Island, and having no authority to detain those of the passengers who were well, he allowed them with the ship to proceed to the City. He did not give permission to land, however, but told the Captain to anchor off the Battery, until the Board of Health had given the necessary permit. When the vessel had reached the Battery, several tugs approached and took off the passengers, the Captain of the Foster not objecting.

Commissioner SWINBURNE said that he was glad that this matter had been brought before the Board in this manner, so that the Commissioners would be led to see that something should be done to rectify a serious error in the Health laws, as they now exist. It had always been the policy of the Board, he said, and one to which it was well known that he had always been opposed, that passengers who had been exposed to ship-fever on board of vessels should be allowed to land, and to distribute themselves wherever they pleased, provided, only, that they showed no symptoms of affection of the disease. This policy had been advocated and carried out, under the impression that it was not dangerous to the public health. He believed it to be a very dangerous procedure, and recommended that the Commissioners of Charities and Corrections be requested to select a place where such persons should be detained until there was no doubt of it being safe to allow them to land.

A lengthy and warm discussion followed the remarks of Commissioner SWINBURNE, after which it was resolved to submit the matter to the consideration of the Sanitary Committee and the Counsel for suggestions as to the most effectual remedy to be adopted.

FAT-BOILING ESTABLISHMENTS.

Lengthy reports were received from Sanitary Superintendent HARRIS and his assistant, Dr. MOREAU MORRIS, regarding the condition of the thirteen licensed fat-melting establishments now in operation in this City.

Dr. MORRIS mentioned in a supplementary report that the business of fat-boiling at Nos. 611 and 613 West Thirty-eighth-street, and No. 37 Abbatoir-place, was being conducted in violation of the health ordinances. The attorney was instructed to notify the offenders, so that a hearing might be had and the evil remedied.

The reports were referred to the Sanitary Committee.

CLEANING THE STREETS.

The following letter was read on the subject of cleaning the streets, in reply to one written to the Commissioner by the President of the Board of Health:

DEPARTMENT FOR STREET CLEANING,
NO. 308 MULBERRY-STREET,
NEW-YORK, March 31, 1869.

SIR: I have the honor to return herewith a copy of the resolution of the Metropolitan Board of Health concerning the condition of the streets. Permit me to say that the resolution was entirely unnecessary, and had the Board known what was really being done, in my opinion the resolution would not have been offered. For your own information I beg to state that not a moment of favorable time remains unimproved—that the sanctity of the Sabbath has been invaded—that even on last Sabbath, though it was Easter, and some of our force for that reason positively refused to work, Italians were engaged, and they worked part of the day and all night. I mention this to show you that no further inspiration is required to cause this Department to do its duty.

With great respect, yours, &c.,
W. H. PERRY.

To Hon. G. B. LINCOLN, President Metropolitan Board of Health.

It was resolved to hold special meetings of the Board, hereafter, on Thursday of each week. The Board finally adjourned until Monday next.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

Before Judge Blatchford.

The Judge announced that he had expected to devote this month to the trial of cases before a jury, but owing to the change in the District-Attorney's office, that order of business would not be carried out, and he would sit for a fortnight in the Circuit Court, to dispose of cases on the General Calendar.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—EASTERN DISTRICT.

Before Judge Benedict.

The following-named persons were arraigned in Court yesterday, and pleaded guilty to having carried on retail liquor business without having paid special tax, and they were fined as stated: John Buckley, $10; James Nevins, $75; F. Chassells, $75; Owen Moore, $75, and C. F. Rall, 75.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' COURT—BROOKLYN.

Before Commissioner Jones.

The examination of the third mate of the James Foster, Jr., on the charge of murder on the high seas, has been set down for to-morrow morning.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE.

Before Commissioner Osborn.

Farman Z. Tucker was arraigned several weeks ago on a charge of blackmailing Mr. Ray, the distiller. Mr. Ray was arraigned on a charge of defrauding the Government by avoiding the payment of taxes. Both cases have been examined on the same evidence, and yesterday the summing up took place.

Mr. Joachimson, for Mr. Ray, claimed that the testimony of five disinterested witnesses to the same demands made by Tucker on Ray, and the same payments, was sufficient to establish the case against Tucker. Mr. Benedict, for Mr. Tucker, argued that the witnesses were not disinterested, and that their stories were contradictory. The hole in the pane of glass through which Winfeld and Kempner swore that they looked at the same time, was so small (the pane was produced) that two people could not look through it at once. Moreover, when the pane was brought to the Commissioner's office the hole had been enlarged to make the story seem more probable. Quin's memoranda, the counsel said, were manifestly manufactured for the occasion. He argued that it was incredible that a blackmailer should be so foolish as to procure the presence of witnesses. It was a suspicious circumstance that the charge was not made by Mr. Ray immediately after the demands of Mr. Tucker, but a month later, on the day that Mr. Ray heard that Mr. Tucker was on the point of preferring charges against him for revenue frauds. The little "Tucker boy's" testimony contradicted the testimony of other witnesses, and had itself the appearance of truth. Mr. Botner's memorandum showed signs of erasures. Mr. Tucker's story was simple and straightforward; Mr. Ray's charge was supported by falsehood, perjury and forgery.

Mr. Joachimson argued that Mr. Ray's distillery was conducted honestly, and that Mr. Ray had no motive for getting Mr. Tucker out of the way. The counsel for the defence had not looked at the case as a whole, but had combatted the evidence only in detail. That Mr. Benedict's charges of forgery and perjury were not pertinent, because the corpus delicti, the taking of money, was admitted by the defence.

The Commissioner reserved his decision.

Before Commissioner Betts.

Bernard Hess was arraigned for blackmailing a cigar dealer named Burlinghoff, in 1867. The defence brought their witnesses, one of whom swore that it was not Burlinghoff's store at the time mentioned as the date of the blackmailing; another swore that Burlinghoff was not a good man, and the third swore that Mr. Burlinghoff had cursed Hess and expressed regret that he had not chopped him with an ax, and that Mr. Burlinghoff had used similar language. The case was adjourned.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM—BROOKLYN.

Before Judge Gilbert.

JURISDICTION OF CORONERS.

Arguments were made yesterday for and against the writ of prohibition, the design of which was to prevent Coroner Flynn, of New-York, exercising jurisdiction by holding an inquest on the body of Lockwood, the fugitive from Sing Sing State Prison. The motion to have the writ ordered was denied and the writ dismissed, on the ground that Coroner Flynn had jurisdiction in the case alluded to.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM—APRIL 5.

Before Chief Justice Clerke and Justices Sutherland and Peckham.

The National Park Bank vs. The Ninth National Bank.—This was a motion by the plaintiff to advance the above cause as a preferred cause on the General Term Calendar under the provisions of section 307 of the Revised Statutes, (5th edition,) page 589. These provisions are that "all issues of fact and law in suits against any corporation or joint stock association for banking purposes, issuing bank notes, or any kind of paper credit to circulate as money, shall be preferred on the calendar." The Court held that the defendant came within this description, and that the cause was a preferred cause.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Bedford.

The April term of the Court of General Sessions commenced yesterday, Judge BEDFORD occupying the bench in the place of Recorder Hackett, who is not well. The rolls of Grand and Petit Jurors were called. Thirteen of the latter had excuses to offer, and ninety-seven were fined $25 each for non-attendance. Only twenty-three were ready for duty, and as the law requires the presence of twenty-four, it was necessary to adjourn the Court to this morning.

THE MARCH TERM OF THE COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

During this term eighty-three cases were disposed of. Of the convictions seventeen were for grand larceny, sixteen for burglary, nine for petit larceny, six for assault, four for robbery, four for false pretences, three for manslaughter, two for forgery, two for picking pockets, and one for carrying concealed weapons. The punishment of the burglars varied from 2 years and 6 months to 15 years in the State Prison, of the thieves from 6 months in the Penitentiary to 5 years in State Prison, of the robbers from 5 to 12 years in prison, and of those who were guilty of manslaughter from 6 months in the Penitentiary to 7 years in prison. The whole number sent to State Prison was thirty-five, one a woman; the Penitentiary received eighteen, including two women; eighteen were tried and acquitted, and in nine cases judgment was postponed. The sum total of the sentences inflicted amounts to 214 years and 7 months.

MONDAY, April 5—P. M.

Money continues very dear in Wall-street and the heavy Banks are generally pleading poverty, though a portion of this class of lenders are said to be doing a fair business at the current extra rate of Interest, which, under the liberal provisions of the National Banking law, they claim they are at liberty to accept. Whether this be strictly so or not, it is satisfactory to the Brokers to know, in seasons of extreme dearness, like the present, that they can buy Money for a price at Bank as well as on the Street. The rates to-day, after 12 o'clock M., (up to which hour no unusual demand was developed,) were from 7 ⅌ cent. Gold Interest to one-sixteenth@ one-eighth ⅌ cent. a day in Currency, on call; that is, in most cases, returnable to-morrow. The Discount Brokers are paying from 10 to 14 ⅌ cent. per annum on prime and good Merchant paper of short date. And 30@60 day contracts were made at the Government Board of the Stock Exchange in the Public Funds, 5-20s of 1865@1867 at the equivalent of 10@12 ⅌ cent. per annum. At the close of the day there were no signs apparent of an easier state of things to-morrow, or for some days to come. The Exchange at New-Orleans is more favorable for New-York, and some Currency is coming every day from Philadelphia. These influences may partially tell in the course of the week, and the probability is that the next Bank return will show more steadiness than the last.

The Foreign Exchanges were advanced to 108@108¼ ⅌ cent. on London 60 days, and 108¾@108⅞ ⅌ cent. short sight this morning, and some business was done at the inside figures, but not to a large extent. The leading, or what are known as the standard drawers, placed their 60-day rate at 108¼ at the close of the day, and other Bankers were not inclined to press their Bills on sale.

The following official notice appears this Afternoon from the Treasury Office:

UNITED STATES TREASURY, } NEW-YORK, April 5, 1869. }

Coupons for interest due May 1, 1869, will now be received for examination, and the same will be cashed, if desired, on a rebate of the interest from the day of payment to May 1, at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, in coin. Where twenty or more coupons are presented, they must be accompanied by a schedule, showing number and amount of each coupon.

H. H. VAN DYCK, Assistant-Treasurer.

In the Stock and Gold Exchange markets the same anomalous or contradictory state of things prevailed to-day as at the close of last week—contradictory, we mean, as compared with the sharp condition and restricted supply of the Money market. Nearly everything went up at the early Boards, and the New-York and some of the Western Railways, and all the Public Funds and Gold were actually buoyant. When the difficulty and cost of borrowing Money for the settlements of the day came to be realized, there was some reaction from extreme prices—⅛@⅜ ⅌ cent. on 5-20s, ¾@1 ⅌ cent. on New-York Central, and ½@¾ ⅌ cent. on the Western Roads and Pacific Mail; Gold, on the other hand, further advancing to 131⅝@131¾ ⅌ cent. Among the Miscellaneous Shares there was a further advance in Western Union Telegraph, and the Bull movement in the Stock, based upon the known large increase in the traffic of the Company, has assumed more confident proportions than for eighteen months past. The Cash price at 2:30 P. M. was 40¾ ⅌ cent., and 30-day buyers paid 41½ ⅌ cent. In the Southern State Bonds there was an improvement of ½@¾ ⅌ cent. in new Tennessees, while the new North Carolinas, as on Friday, showed weakness, and lost part of the recovery noticed on Saturday. In other descriptions the changes were not notable. After Bank hours the general market for the Railways, Pacific Mail, &c., showed an upward course again, and the Public Funds, notwithstanding some reported efforts to hammer down the 5-20s of 1865-67, were steadier. The old 5-20s of 1862 were not so strong as in the forenoon, although the quotations come higher from the other side than on Saturday.

After the late Boards broke up the following quotations were made, as compared with Saturday afternoon:

The day's business at the office of the United States Assistant Treasurer was as follows: Total receipts, $1,309,354; total payments, $695,326; balance, $87,494,293. The receipts include, for Customs, $405,000; for gold notes, $63,000.

The Rochester Chronicle of April 3 says:

"It is said that our townsman, Hon. FREEMAN CLARKE, is to be President of a New-York bank of $5,000,000 capital, to be engaged in conducting foreign exchange with London and the Continent."

The Mark Lane Express of March 22 remarks:

"For the most part the weather of the past week has continued seasonably cold and dry, with frosty nights, which have greatly helped to pulverize the soil and prepare it for sowing where this has not been accomplished. So serviceable and timely has been the check that the forwardness of the fruit trees has been much reduced, and an unusually fine show of pear blossom near to opening has become common, without any signs of damage. The Wheat recently threshed has come better to hand, and a good measure of farm labor has been got through. But the long range of dull markets culminated last week in one of the heaviest declines on Wheat since harvest—say 8s. to 4s. ⅌ quarter, in London, without the slightest symptoms as yet of any reaction, although the country fall is not equal to this. So long as Spring corn ruled relatively high, Wheat seemed safe, but since the general reduction in prices, this support has been withdrawn, and those who made the earliest sales, which certainly paid well, have very good reason to congratulate themselves. Nothing can now revive the market but the refusal of farmers to sell, or the stoppage of foreign import. It seems very improbable, however, that both should happen together, but if they should, a temporary enhancement would be certain. There is nothing yet in the aspect of the crops to cause much disquietude, though general reports are not so favorable, yet with an evident surplus on last year's crop of Wheat, both in America and Europe, these countries, from monetary pressure, are likely to send on fair shipments; still the amount seems likely to be lessened by the diminution in the rates, as some will prefer taking the chance of another harvest to making large sacrifices. Thus Hamburg, though cheaper, has not equally fallen, having received fair orders from Portugal; and the best high-mixed at Danzic being scarce is not to be had under 53s., cost and freight, merchants there thinking Wheat has reached its lowest. In Paris again, which of late has taken almost the lead in a decline, there is more firmness exhibited; while there has been very little change in Belgium, Holland, and the interior of Germany. New-York reports a further decline, not as the consequence of present receipts but of future anticipations.

The arrivals off the coast since the 12th of March were only two cargoes, of which one cargo was Wheat and one Dari."

INDIANAPOLIS AND VINCENNES RAILROAD COMPANY

First Mortgage Forty-year Bonds.

Interest Seven Per Cent. per Annum,

Payable February and August, in the City of New-York. Guaranteed, jointly and severally, by

THE INDIANAPOLIS, CINCINNATI AND LAFAYETTE RAILROAD CO.
THE PITTSBURG, CINCINNATI AND ST. LOUIS RAILWAY CO.
THE COLUMBUS, CHICAGO AND INDIANA CENTRAL RAILWAY CO.;

The latter guarantee being indorsed by the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Co.

Issue restricted to $1,700,000 on the entire road, which is equal to about $15,000 per mile. This road is now approaching its completion; it traverses a rich and populous district in the State of Indiana, and will soon constitute an important link in the Trunk Line, extending from the Atlantic cities to the Southwest, via Cairo.

The intrinsic value of the road itself, combined with the guarantee of four other important railroad companies, one of which ranks financially among the strongest railroad corporations in the world, render these bonds among the safest investments on the market.

We confidently recommend them as a most desirable security for parties investing for themselves or in trust for others.

Also, Shares in the Capital Stock of said Railway Company, on which Six per Cent. per annum and one-half the net earnings of the road, in excess of that amount, is guaranteed to the holders in perpetuity by the same railroad corporations.

A limited quantity of these choice securities are offered for sale on favorable terms by

$1,000,000 GOLD.

SIX PER CENT.
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
OF THE
ST. LOUIS AND ST. JOSEPH RAILROAD
OF MISSOURI.

Coupons payable May and Nov. 1, at the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., in the City of New-York. The principal, as well as the interest, is payable in coin. Length of road, 72¼ miles, from the City of St. Joseph to Lexington, making a through line, with the connection now completed from Omaha to St. Louis, and, on completion of the Union and Central Pacific Roads, with San Francisco. The total amount of bonds, all that can be issued, is $1,000,000—less than $14,000 per mile—which are secured by a first mortgage on the entire property of the Company. A portion of the road is now in successful operation; the balance is being rapidly constructed, and will be completed during the Summer.

The Farmers' Loan and Trust Co. are the trustees for the bonds, who receive the money and pay it over to the Company on the completion of each section of the road.

The road is being built entirely with cash, economically and in a substantial manner. The Directors and officers are all men of the highest standing and responsibility. The counties through which it runs are the most populous and richest agricultural districts in the State, making the security first-class—one that we recommend to our friends as a desirable investment, equal, in our estimation, to any we have ever sold. The California-Pacific 7 per cent. Bonds were closed out by us in January last, and are now selling at an advance of from 5 to 6 per cent., and are in good demand at the price. We confidently look for a corresponding, if not greater, advance in the St. Louis and St. Joseph 6 per cent. Bonds.

The Company, through the undersigned, offer a limited amount at 87½, and accrued interest in currency, reserving the right to advance the price without notice. Governments and other marketable securities received at market rates. For pamphlets and further particulars, apply to

EIGHT PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS!

GUARANTEED BY THE STATE OF ALABAMA! PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD!!

The undersigned offer for sale a limited quantity of ALABAMA and CHATTANOOGA FIRST MORTGAGE RAILROAD BONDS, and call attention to the following facts:

1. The mortgage is limited to $16,000 per mile, issued only upon road built and equipped.

2. The road develops a section unsurpassingly rich in iron, coal, manufacturing facilities, and cotton, besides shortening the distance between New-York and New-Orleans 216 miles, and forming the shortest route possible between the two cities.

3. Fifty miles are already completed, the whole under contract to be finished within eighteen months.

4. These bonds are guaranteed by the State of Alabama, whose entire debt is less than $5,000,000, whose interest has always been promptly met, and whose Eight per cent. Currency Bonds are now selling at par.

5. Both Principal and Interest are payable in Gold.

6. The present price is 97½ and accrued interest in currency, the Company reserving the right to advance the price.

7. Ten thousand 5-20s will purchase 12,000 of these bonds; the annual interest upon the 10,000 5-20s will be $800, gold; the annual interest upon 12,000 of these bonds will be $960, gold. We confidently recommend these securities as the BEST AND CHEAPEST investment now in the market.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday, Mr. SCHURZ introduced a bill to create St. Louis and Cincinnati ports of entry, and to regulate the appraisement and inspection of imports there. Referred to the Committee on Commerce. Mr. CHANDLER called up the bill to authorize the New-York, Newfoundland, and London Telegraph Company to land its submarine cable on the shores of the United States. The pending question was the amendment offered by Mr. STOCKTON, authorizing any cable company chartered by the laws of any State to land its cable on the shores of the United States, subject ultimately to regulation by Congress. The expiration of the morning hour brought up as unfinished business of Saturday the joint resolution to protect the interests of the United States in the Union Pacific Railroad. The immediate question was the appointment of a Board of eminent citizens, not exceeding five in number, to examine and report in regard to the proper point of junction with the Central Pacific Railroad. A long debate ensued, in which Senators CHANDLER, HOWARD, SHERMAN, CONKLING, WILLIAMS, STEWART, TRUMBULL and THAYER participated. After confirming a number of nominations in Executive Session, the Senate adjourned.

In the House a number of bills were introduced. Among them one by Mr. NEGLEY to reduce the number of army officers. Mr. STEVENS introduced a bill providing that the law constituting eight hours a day's work shall be construed as to give full wages, and one by Mr. REEVES to allow prize money to the officers and crew of the Monitor for the fight with the Merrimac in Hampton Roads. Mr. SHANKS offered a resolution referring to the Judiciary Committee the charges against RICHARD BUSTEED, District Judge of the United States for Alabama. It was adopted. The House took a recess at 4:30, and met again in the evening at 7:30. Mr. JENCKES addressed the House on the reform in the Civil Service, and at 9:30 an adjournment took place.

Colonel STANTON, the new State Auditor of Virginia, appointed by General WEBB, countersigned the warrants for the clerks of the office yesterday. The State Treasurer has refused to pay them because they were drawn to the 1st of April. He claims that they were no de facto clerks after the removal of the heads of departments by General STONEMAN, which took place on the 21st of March. General WEBB has the affair under consideration, and it is believed that the men will be paid up to the 1st instant.

Rio Coffee was in active request, chiefly on speculative account, at a fractional advance. The Freight market was quiet, and rates were weak.

Transactions were lively yesterday at the Cattle yards. The supply consisted of rather common bullocks, most of which were sold for about 15c.@16c. ₱ ℔., net weight. A small proportion of the Cattle were sold for 17c.@17½c. ₱ ℔. The market was more favorable for sellers than last week. Prices were quite firm, and there seemed to be a larger number of buyers than usual, all demurring at the high prices and trying to persuade sellers to accept the prices asked at a liberal discount. Sheep sell at satisfactory rates, with quick sales at some rates between 6c.@9½c. ₱ ℔., live weight, for good Sheep. Several droves of good sheared Sheep were sold at 6½c. ₱ ℔., live weight. Checks and Balances in the Treasury Department.

Messrs. EDMUNDS, BUCKALEW and HALSEY have given to the public an extraordinary revelation. To them the Joint Committee on Retrenchment intrusted the examination ordered by Congress touching so much of the machinery and business of the Treasury Department as relates to the printing and issuing of the bonds, notes and securities. The results of their labors show that they were carried on in the mildest of critical moods. Searching the inquiry seems to have been on some points, and yet it is in many respects unsatisfactory. For while the facts reported exhibit a degree of mismanagement for which, we venture to say, no parallel can be found in the financial service of any other Government, we are left in doubt as to the branches of the Department to which culpability most attaches, and also as to the probable extent to which the country has suffered.

The gentleness and reticence of the authors of the report must be deemed somewhat misplaced by those who have studied its statements. It is well to be generous in the interpretation of conduct where room for difference of opinion exists. But generosity does not necessitate the invention of excuses to palliate the enormity of such a state of things as this investigation has exposed. There may have been "innocent mistakes" in matters which are more consistently explained on the theory of fraud, but we are under no obligation always to assume that occurrences by which the Treasury loses millions are always, or even generally, the result of accident. The organization of the Printing Bureau would really seem to have been intended to facilitate fraud; and the manner of doing business in other branches has been so loose and irregular, that knaves might not unreasonably suppose it to have been designed for their special accommodation.

Look at the system as described by the Committee. Referring to the issues of notes and bonds, they report that the testimony tends to show "that the numerical registers of issue are rather theoretical than actual records of transactions":

> "That is, that the clerks in charge did not compare each issue of the bond by their consecutive numbers with the registry entries, or make the entries in the register from such comparison; but that they made up the entries in the register, as a rule, by taking the first and last number of any particular lot of securities, and making the entries from those, and assuming that all the numbers between were consecutive regularly, and not duplicate."

This method of checking the bonds or notes before leaving the Department, is cited to explain the possibility of errors in the numbering, without actual loss to the Government. What it does prove is that registers of issue thus prepared are in a measure worthless; that they deprive the Department of an essential check upon the transactions of its subordinates, and remove from fraud its greatest obstacle. Nor has dishonesty been hindered by a careful separation of the various stages of preparation previous to issue. The printing, numbering, sealing and issuing are divisions of labor which should be kept totally distinct. Not only should the several branches be separate, under separate management, but the records of any one should be a check upon all the others. The Committee declare, however, that "the books and accounts between the various subdivisions of the printing establishment have been until recently, to say nothing of the defects still existing, so irregularly kept," "as considerably to diminish confidence in the accuracy of the results derived from such sources. In another part of the report it is said: "There have been inexcusable neglect and carelessness in the methods and operations of the Bureau which furnish abundant opportunities and temptations to fraud." Still, again, we are told that the methods of accountability and comparison between the various bureaus of the Treasury have been radically defective. Thus, vouchers for the interchange of securities were often mere slips of paper, which were afterward destroyed, leaving no recorded evidence of large transactions.

> "This, in connection with the fact that in respect to the deliveries of these securities from bureau to bureau, and from branch to branch in the Department, no books or accounts were kept in the form of debits and credits, and comparisons made and balances struck, and discrepancies discovered, if existing, as in the case of mercantile accounts, has led to a very considerable confusion, as will have been seen by the preceding tables and statements, even supposing the discrepancies before stated to have been the result of merely innocent error. The official force in the various bureaus does not appear to have thought it among its duties to make comparisons with the other bureaus in respect to the creation and disposition of securities very often, or to ascertain whether their corresponding bureaus were correct in their accounts and proceedings or not; and it is obvious that without such comparison and criticism of the respective accounts and proceedings the several bureaus are no check upon each other; and, indeed, as we have said, the books in respect to transmission and delivery of securities, when there were any, were so kept as to make such a criticism and comparison almost impossible without a general and comprehensive investigation."

Can any system of management be imagined more favorable to fraud? Haste, and perhaps ignorance in the early stages of the war, might account for temporary defects. But the incapacity that should allow the system to grow, and to continue for years, notwithstanding public protests against it, is barely credible. The bank which should conduct its business in this manner, or the private merchant or capitalist who conducted his affairs without more effective supervision, would end in bankruptcy; and the popular judgment would not suggest "innocent mistakes" by way of explanation. Occasional errors of detail are possible in one branch or another, but other branches should have the means of correcting them. Here, however, the whole system is bad. Plan and working are both as unsound and unsatisfactory as they can be.

It is not surprising that such a system has brought forth a plentiful crop of what the Committee charitably designate as "discrepancies." Many of these Mr. EDMUNDS and his colleagues, with a leniency which their own report scarcely warrants, pronounce "entirely innocent," having arisen, as they say, "from irregularity in the method and detail rather than from positive fraud." The remark occurs in connection with Treasury notes that "are unaccounted for, and of which no explanation can be obtained;" a remark illustrative of the extreme moderation which characterizes the tone of the report. Seventy-nine $5,000 seven-thirty notes are missing; the departmental hypothesis is that they have been destroyed, but the Committee suggest that "the want of any documentary or other specific proof accounting for these notes is" "quite unsatisfactory." Could politeness go further? Concerning the destruction of missing coupon five-twenties of 1862, the Committee consider the evidence "not perfect, but probable." Further, in regard to the same subject—the destruction of 86,218 thousand-dollar bonds—there is no direct evidence to sustain the alleged fact. "No documentary proof of the fact is to be found further than that the destruction was directed;" rather a loose manner of destroying obligations, we think. Yet another "discrepancy" in the matter of destruction is attributed to "an error in the accounts, or an erroneous printing;" and still another phase elicits the opinion that the practice pursued is "unwise and dangerous." The Pacific Railroad bonds are the occasion of "large discrepancies," respecting which only probability is relied upon as presumptive proof that there have not been large frauds. Then there are duplicates of securities for which the Committee cannot offer any conclusive explanation: even the amount is not stated. "Whether they are the consequences of innocent mistake or fraud," it is mercifully said, "cannot certainly be ascertained until the whole issue shall have been redeemed." In fact, we find nowhere in the published version of the report data enabling us to estimate the amount lost by the Government through carelessness or fraud, or the amount of equivocal securities still unredeemed. Enough appears to induce the belief that the aggregate is very large.

As to the fractional currency, even guessing is out of place. Under the system pursued, there has been almost nothing to prevent fraudulent issues to an unlimited extent from the Printing Bureau. "If any fraud has occurred," the Committee observe, "it can never be ascertained from redemptions unless the frauds have been enormous in amount." This is all the consolation we can gather.

One source of error and loss the Committee trace in the political influences which control subordinate appointments. While this practice prevails there can be no guarantee of efficiency or integrity; and the report before us makes it evident that these qualities have been everywhere wanting in a department which most requires their exercise.

The Cuban Situation.

Whatever may be our views of the Cuban cause, we must not be blind to the fact that the insurgents have not yet made the degree of progress generally claimed for them. Exaggeration is the leading trait of all news from the island, both from the official and the insurgent side. We showed, the other day, how, in the Spanish stories, every cross-road skirmish was magnified to a great battle, and every dispersion of a knot of suspicious characters was telegraphed as a tremendous defeat of the patriots. What has become of that "utter rout of a great body of insurgents near Trinidad?" Ten days have since elapsed, and nothing has been heard of the affair.

Rumor and report are absolutely all that we get from "the scene of conflict," and so trivial are even these that one begins to doubt whether there is any conflict at all. Take the telegrams of the last ten days—they are the merest twaddle. Cuban news is a mere repetition of Cretan, which was so untrustworthy as to revive the uncomplimentary Cretan description of St. Paul. That "reliable gentleman" who used to figure, along with the "intelligent contraband," in our own war, has evidently taken up his abode with the Queen of the Antilles, and is plying his old vocation. First he tells us that "the Peruvian monitors are certainly aiding the insurrection"—although the official pledge of neutrality under which Peru took them has been made public. Next he tells us that "within a few days the insurgents will have possession of a seaport;" but he has told us that for three months. He speaks of Havana as being somewhat in the position of the Viceroy of Egypt, under whose seat a "loaded bomb" was lately put; whereas, private residents there tell us they would hardly suspect that an insurrection existed, but for the newspapers. An English gentleman—an impartial observer—lately rode on horseback through the whole of that "insurrectionary district" of which our "reliable gentleman" regularly sends maps, shaded with various degrees of blackness, to indicate the spread of rebellion. At each village he paused and inquired where the insurrection was. "At ——, so many miles ahead," was the invariable response. He got to Havana without finding it.

We would not underrate the insurrection, which is a very serious affair, and promises one day to be successful. But what we say is that sympathy must not lead observers to discount a success not yet attained. The real efforts of the Cubans will probably be made in Summer, when, as Mayor HALL says, General Yellow Jack will take the field against the foreign levies, and the native troops will be better disciplined to fight. There has yet been nothing like a pitched battle, and hardly even a respectable skirmish.

The Fisheries of New-York.

The report of the Fish Commissioners of this State was transmitted to the Legislature on March 9,—a month ago,—but as yet no action appears to have been taken on it. There are two distinct propositions made by the Commission, both of which are important, and one of which requires immediate attention and a prompt appropriation.

The one requiring immediate legislation is the proposition to stock the Hudson River with shad. The Commissioners, consisting of Mr. SETH GREEN and ROBERT ROOSEVELT, both practical men, and perhaps the best informed pisciculturists in America, with Mr. HORATIO SEYMOUR as a figure-head for embellishment, recommend that "immediate steps be taken to breed shad in the Hudson on a scale intended to produce an immediate and marked effect." As shad spawn in the Hudson in June, action on this matter ought to be had at once, as some weeks of time will be required to make the necessary preparations. The Commissioners propose with 400 of SETH GREEN'S hatching boxes to hatch during twenty-five days of June next 300,000,000 eggs of shad and turn the young fry loose in the river that they may proceed to sea, get fat, come back and be captured for the benefit of the public. They place the cost of doing this at seven thousand dollars. They balance this expenditure by the following calculation: "If only one in three hundred shad that were so hatched should return, and if they were to maintain a price of fifty cents each, the result would be the receipt of $500,000, in the place of the $7,000." But as the price would not be maintained at fifty cents if such numbers of shad were caught in the Hudson, in a single season, we can imagine a still more desirable result in the sale of the hundred million of shad at ten cents rather than fifty apiece, and still make return sufficient to repay the State for its expenditure. If the price is maintained at fifty cents the fishermen only will be benefited; if such quantities are bred that the price will drop to one-fifth that rate, then the whole public will be benefited; and that is what is wanted and expected of all such public enterprises and expenditures as this. We have no doubt that with the sum asked for Mr. SETH GREEN will place in the Hudson River in a single season enough shad to materially lower the price of this article of food in our market; and with the enforcement of the proper laws for their protection, will, in a few years, reduce the cost of shad to something within reason, and place it within reach of all.

The second proposition of the Commissioners refers to the stocking of the inland waters of the State with trout, white fish, black bass, carp and other valuable varieties, and this can be done at greater leisure and less expense; the estimate of the Commissioners is three thousand dollars. A survey has been made of the principal lakes of New-York State, by which it appears that there are 647 lakes within our limits, comprising an area of 466,457 acres, or 728 square miles. This vast expanse of water, which is at present comparatively unproductive, might be made, if not as valuable as an equal number of cultivated acres, at least to furnish greatly increased returns, and to bring to the homes of the dwellers inland a prime article of food at much less than its present cost. To stock these, or the greater part of them, with proper kinds of fish, either by transporting spawn or those of mature size, would be a matter of trifling expense. Many of them are connected together, and fish would pass from one to the other.

It appears to us very important that this work should not halt with us while it is being vigorously prosecuted in the States all around us; and we beg to urge on the Legislature the early consideration of the bill presented by the Commissioners in their report.

Barkis is Not Willin'.

The report that an American war steamer was coaling in the Bay of Samana has caused, it seems, "great excitement throughout the island;" and we are furthermore assured that "the Dominicans are very unwilling to part with their territory."

In that case, we are still more unwilling to take it; and yet here we find the extraordinary spectacle of a seller very unwilling to sell, and a buyer very unwilling to buy, while both parties are dragged up to the counter to consummate the bargain. BAEZ, greedy to realize cash in hand for his empty purse, puts himself in communication with a "Dominican Ring" at Washington, greedy to—we can hardly say what, but probably they do not mean to be personal losers by their patriotic labors. Mr. FABENS has arrived at the national capital, empowered and intrusted, it is understood, to let or sell. A howl of rage goes up from his helpless countrymen—but it avails nothing.

The signs of the times are that we need not hurry about buying ports in the West Indies or anywhere else. The "attrition of gravitation" is already acting on Cuba, Canada and Mexico, at a sufficient rate. If, however, we must spend some of our extra funds, in order to relieve the plethora of the Treasury, let us begin with St. Thomas, where we have also a question of honor involved.

Mr. Johnson and His Successor.

Mr. JOHNSON, when engaged in "swinging around the circle," is never over-choice in epithets or over-courteous to opponents; but he could not have said anything in more execrable taste than he did at Knoxville, in exclaiming, "Thank God my honors have not been gained through blood. The wounded soldiers cannot attribute their wounds to me." Compared with this, his Baltimore slur at his successor as being a willing "slave to Congress," was a compliment. All the blood GRANT has shed has been in defence of that Constitution of which Mr. JOHNSON still imagines himself to be the only guardian. It was noble blood, nobly offered; and it was because General GRANT had so managed that this blood was not shed in vain, that his countrymen first turned their minds upon him for the Presidential chair. To slur at those whose "honors have been gained through blood" is to cast a reflection upon some of the best men of the land, of all opinions and all parties; it is to decry the ultimate tribute of patriotism.

MINOR TOPICS.

President GRANT has signed the bill which passed both Houses of Congress last Wednesday, modifying the Tenure-of-Office act. Ever since the passage of the bill he has been sending home nominations to the Senate as rapidly as possible, and it is understood that the Diplomatic and Consular nominations will be sent in this week.

This is a free country. And we have received the prospectus of a paper, to be published in this City, under the name of the Imperialist, which, while holding Democracy to be a failure, will "demand that, on the ruins of this unfortunate Republic, shall be reared the firm and substantial structure of an Empire." We are not told the name of the heaven-born personage whom the Imperialist intends to advocate as Emperor; but we do know that Ex-President JOHNSON, in his speech at Knoxville last Saturday, exclaimed: "Let me tell you here that a wise and good Prince is infinitely better than a despotic, arbitrary Congress." It is true that, in using these words, the Ex-President did not directly nominate himself for Prince Imperial; but he gave a hint as to the proper candidate, which should not be lost upon the Imperialist.

President GRANT has given orders to our naval commander at Havana to see to the protection of American citizens in Cuba, and he has also given orders that will prevent filibustering bands leaving this country for Cuba. This is the whole policy of justice and international law in regard to the matter.

The British Post Office, according to a Cable dispatch, has finally awarded the contract for the ocean mails to the Cunard Steamship Company. We do not learn, however, whether the contract in question is the old one for one mail a week, or the new one, granted by the Disraeli Ministry, for two weekly services. And it does not appear whether the Committee obtained by Mr. SEELY on the subject has yet reported. We doubt whether the action of the Post Office can be considered as "final" until that report has been made; and the animus of the original supporters of the motion for that Committee was so decidedly against the continuance of the subsidy system, that we can scarcely believe that the question has been settled in so summary a manner.

The fluctuations in the price of gold have been very slight during the last month. About the time of GRANT'S inauguration there was a fall of four or five per cent. from the figures that had been maintained for many months previously; but after that it became steady, and lately the price has varied but fractionally from 131. We differ from "Veteran Observer" in thinking it of no consequence what the premium on gold may be. We think it of great consequence that the national credit should be golden.

The Express holds that the final adjournment of Congress this week will be a "God-send to the people," and then, adds the Express, "If it (Congress) could not meet for the next ten years, and it was possible to administer the Government constitutionally and legally, it would be a blessing." Is the Express, too, in favor of an Emperor, or in favor of that "wise and good Prince" whom President JOHNSON declares to be "infinitely better" for us than a "despotic Congress?"

An "Englishman" has taken the trouble to write to us from Cincinnati, in order to "dare" us to print a bloviating letter about our recent topic on the last British fight in China. He undertakes "as an Englishman" to say that "if the citizens of this or any other country [illegible] DORE." We tremble at the thought. But still we must hold to the opinion that the British officers who dealt with the Chinese villagers in such a high-handed manner, knew certainly and exactly that it was Chinamen they were dealing with.

The English historian FROUDE, in the address we published yesterday, complimented the Scotch people for "teaching Englishmen what no one would believe to be possible unless they saw it before their eyes—that a member of Parliament can be elected without bribery." That is certainly a grand thing in politics. We Americans need some teaching in the same direction.

The Tribune thinks that the Canadian exodus to this country is induced by the fact that Canada has "comparative Free Trade," while this country enjoys a Tariff. Those who have traveled in Lower Canada, from which the French Canadians are now emigrating, or who know the real causes of their backwardness, will smile at this opinion. It is but a few years since the abolition of the old Seignorial tenure of land, which, with the law of Mortmain and the despotism of ecclesiastical domination, were the real underlying causes of the backwardness of the French Canadian population. Not by "cheap British fabrics," but by quite other and deeper causes has Lower Canada been kept back.

Mr. FROUDE'S address at St. Andrews was rather wordy and windy; but he showed by one passage that he had an excellent idea of the literary and journalistic style necessary in these days. After remarking that the rewards of literature were generally small, and that the adjustment of them was awry, he said: "The present rule was to pay by the page or sheet—the more words the more pay, while the rule ought to be exactly the reverse." We commend this idea to all editors of newspapers and magazines, to all writers and authors, and to everybody who is accustomed to "take the pen in hand."

As an encouraging item to fiddlers, we may state that the late M. TROPLONG commenced life as a violin player, and yet before the close of his career, he had been made a peer by King LOUIS PHILIPPE, and President of the Senate by the Emperor NAPOLEON. It is not to his credit that he never referred to his fiddling days after he became a peer.

Bavaria has been the first country in Europe to begin something like disarmament; for we suppose we may thus construe the military order which has been issued, and was sent us by Cable from Munich, "granting unlimited leave of absence to thirty men of each company in all the infantry regiments of the Bavarian Army." If France and Prussia would take some such step as this, we might look for some relief from the enormous military establishments which crush down the nations of Europe.

From our fashion correspondent we have the following remarks: "This season sees a general revival of braids for ladies' bonnets—straw braids, of new and old designs. The new are interwrought with jet and pearl beads—which is by no means an improvement. Straw may be braided ever so elaborately, but it should not be worked up with materials for which it has no sympathy—of which it has no suggestion. Its freshness and breezeness—souvenir of the fields wherein it grew, should be allowed to assert itself instead of being smothered by the vulgar fripperies of the workshop."

AMUSEMENTS.

Musical.

"La Perichole" was given last evening at the Fifth-avenue Theatre, (JAMES FISK, Jr., proprietor,) as duly announced by Mr. BIRGFELD. The attendance overflowed the charming little place, and the beautiful audience was reflected a hundred times in the many mirrors with which the bright building is lined. Long before the time of opening the house was filled, and probably as many left disappointed as of those who were fortunate enough to remain and be pleased. We have quite recently spoken of "La Perichole." It is a work warmer in imagination, and more perfect in melody, than any which we have had from the prolific pen of OFFENBACH. The scene being removed from the immediate influence of Parisian ideas, there has been an evident effort on the part of the composer to attain a certain local coloring, and this, with his well-known rhymic tendencies, renders the Spanish style a convenient one for him. No recent work has pleased us so much as "La Perichole," and we are glad to find that it has favor with the public. Of the performance last night we can speak in the highest terms. Why should it not be good? The company has played the work repeatedly during its recess, and all the artists who have made its success return under Mr. BRIGFELD'S able management. Mlle. IRMA was in admirable voice. The proportions of the theatre enable the lady to show all the delicate nuances of her naturally fine organ, as well as its native purity and power. M. AUJAC was, of course, excellent, and the smaller parts were interpreted with the clearness which we expect in such an organization, and are rarely disappointed in finding. The chorus was especially strong, and lacked nothing whatever in precision and knowledge of the necessary stage business. The scenery, in its way, is good, but it has evidently been produced in haste, but it is good, even too good in its way. The orchestra is adapted to the size of the house, but it lacks a firmer tone in the violins. There are certain wood and brass instruments which cannot be reduced in number. The poor stringed instruments have always to suffer from the pressure of the full-breathed brethren. One or two more violins would certainly preserve the melodic statements which OFFENBACH is constantly in the habit of making, and which have to be asserted, inasmuch as they are statements, and essential to the development of the composer's purpose. We may add that the material of the orchestra, as constituted, is admirable.

There is a change of opera each evening this week. To-night we are to have "La Grande Duchesse," with TOSTEE; on Wednesday "Barbe Bleue;" on Thursday "Orphée aux Enfers," and so on. The opening last night was so complete a success that the rest may readily be anticipated.

Fire in Exchange-place—One Person Injured.

At 12:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon a fire was discovered among a lot of cotton samples in the office of CLASSON & Co., cotton brokers, on the first floor of No. 59 Exchange-place. The flames originated in the rear part of the floor, and attained such rapid headway before the arrival of the firemen, that I. SCHONENDAHL, the only person in the place, was severely burned on the face and hands while attempting to close the safe. The Fire Brigade succeeded in extinguishing the flames before they had extended to the third floor. The dense smoke which pervaded the entire edifice rendered it difficult for the occupants of the upper floors to escape, some of them only doing so by the ladders raised by the firemen to the windows. The following losses occurred; CLASSON & CO., on office fixtures, &c., $8,600; insured. GILLIAN & Co., brokers, having an office on the same floor, lost $1,000. JAUTON & SWEEZER, stationers, in the basement, had their stock damaged to the extent of $1,000; insured for $3,600 in the Mechanics' and Traders'. M. C. KLINGENFIELD, brokers, also in the basement, sustained a loss of $500. GIBSON, BRADLESTON & Co., on the first floor, lost $500; insured in the Mechanics' and Traders'. RUTTEN & BOUN, bankers, on the second floor, sustained a loss of $5,000; no insurance. The loss of this firm included $3,300 worth of stamps, which were all destroyed. CROSS & SMITH, brokers, on the second floor, lost $500 by water. The damage to building is estimated at $5,000. The origin of the fire is understood to be the result of carelessness in smoking while examining cotton samples.

ANOTHER GREAT ROBBERY.

A Safe Opened and Over $80,000 in Securities Stolen—The Thieves Escape with the Plunder.

Close upon the heels of the great robbery of one million of dollars in Philadelphia, comes the announcement of an attempt upon the part of the New-York thieves to emulate that notable example. The fact of this last achievement of the industrious rogues only leaked out at a late hour last night, and the details of the affair have not yet been ascertained. The Police seem to know nothing of the robbery except that Superintendent KENNEDY received a note yesterday afternoon from RIHCARD P. BUCK & Co., No. 29 South-street, announcing that during Sunday night their safe was opened by burglars and $84,500 in various securities stolen, but of which amount only $600 in United States coupon 5-20 bonds and $300 or $400 in cash could be made available by the thieves. Although this information reached the Central Police Office at a comparatively early hour, no person was sent to the place to make an investigation, and consequently it is not known how the burglars entered the building, or what means they used to open the safe. Such, at least, was the explanation given at the Central Police office as an excuse for the paucity of the information on hand.

The letter received by the Superintendent gives the following as the securities stolen:

$10,000	shares Peoples' National Bank, Charleston, S.C.
10,000	registered bonds of South Carolina.
14,100	stock of Panama Railroad.
10,000	stock Fourth National Bank, New-York.
3,000	stock Leather Manufacturers' National Bank, New-York.
2,000	stock American Exchange National Bank, New-York.
2,500	stock Bucksport National Bank, Pennsylvania.
2,000	stock Nassau National Bank, Brooklyn.
2,000	stock Home Insurance Company, New-York.
2,000	stock Firemen's Trust Insurance Company, New-York.
11,000	stock Hanover National Bank, New-York.
2,000	stock Northern Railroad.
6,900	stock Mercantile Mutual Insurance Company, New-York.
200	stock Old Corn Exchange.
3,000	stock United States Five-twenty Bonds, registered in the name of the Brooklyn Society for the relief of respectable indigent females.
2,000	in United States Five-twenty Bonds registered in the name of John G. Pendleton.

Labor Movements.

As was recently stated in these columns, the strike of the journeymen book and job printers for $20 a week instead of $18, will probably be brought to a close this week. Committees of the employing firms and of the Typographical Union have held several meetings and have at last settled upon terms. The employers concede the extra $2 weekly, and the Union deduct one cent per thousand ems upon a great portion of their piece work. The scale, as arranged, will be presented to the meeting of the Union to-night, at No. 63 East Broadway, and will, in every probability, be ratified. The strike will then be ended, after a duration of eleven weeks, much to the detriment of both employers and journeymen. About one hundred and twenty men are yet out of employment, and the majority of these will obtain immediate work. It has been proposed to open a reading-room for journeymen printers, the expense to be borne by both the Union and the Typothetæ. Those in need of employment will enter their names there, and employers needing hands will do the same.

The marble-bed rubbers demanded yesterday an increase of 25 cents a day on their wages of $3, $3 25. A portion of their employers acceded to the terms, and the rest will probably follow suit. The Staten Island carpenters are on strike for $3 25 a day instead of $3, and the laborers for $2 50 in place of $1 75. But few employers have yet agreed. The Brooklyn carpenters demanded yesterday an additional 25 cents upon their wages of $3 25 to $3 50, and both the German and English tailors are forming rapidly into Unions in order to obtain an increase of pay and a decrease of working hours. The shop tailors now labor fifteen to sixteen hours out of the twenty-four, and earn from $9 to $13 a week. Their wives work, their children aid them, and, according to the assertion of one of them, something or other is done by the dogs and cats toward the general struggle for life, and the canary bird threads the needles. The eight-hour feeling is very general in all trades, and some will gain their point in that respect this Summer.

A Mysterious Case.

About a week since the body of a woman was found floating in the water at the sectional dock, Hoboken, and from the fact that her face was in a somewhat mutilated condition, it was supposed that she had been foully dealt with. Only a few days previously a woman was said to have been abducted from a Jersey City and Hoboken car; and parties sought to make the abducted woman, Miss ANNE MCSPIRIT, and the body, identical; but this failed, inasmuch as a couple of days afterward ANNE appeared in body, and not in spirit, before the Jersey City Recorder, by whom she was ordered to sixty days' imprisonment for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The mystery connected with the drowned body is now being cleared up; for yesterday morning a Mrs. WILLOX, residing at the Meadows, Hoboken, called on Coroner WHITE at his office and stated that from the description given she believed the deceased was her daughter. She added that the body could be identified by a mark on the head, and to account for her daughter's absence stated the woman was inveigled into a disreputable house in Hoboken, from which she disappeared in a most mysterious manner. The Coroner will probably order the body to be exhumed.

Escape of a Convict from the Custody of a Deputy Sheriff.

GEORGE KING, convicted of robbery in what has been known as the King bond robbery, was sentenced last week to the State Prison for five years. It so happened by accident that he was the only one on Friday last remaining to be sent up. On that day Captain RYNDERS told his assistant, knowing that KING was a somewhat slippery customer, not to take any single convict to Sing Sing without special orders from himself, or the Court giving the sentence. Notwithstanding this caution, on Saturday morning, Captain RYNDERS being absent from sickness, his assistant, JOHN MORAN, went to the Tombs in the morning, and removed KING with the avowed purpose of taking him to Sing Sing. Yesterday morning Mr. MORAN sent word to the Sheriff's office, at about 10 A. M., that KING had escaped while on his road to prison. Word was immediately sent to him to come to the office. Up to 2 P. M. he had not obeyed the order. At that hour two special deputies were sent after him, who brought him down at 4 P. M.

In the meantime Sheriff O'BRIEN, who was at Albany, had been telegraphed, and a return message brought to arrest the deputy, and to use every means to rearrest KING. Captain RYNDERS and the Under-Sheriff, Mr. STEVENS, went to Recorder HACKETT and got out a warrant against MORAN, and he was placed immediately in the Tombs. His bail is fixed at $5,000. His examination will come up in a few days.

Since the Indian difficulty, the fur trade in Sitka had been entirely suspended, and the Indians were afraid to approach the town. The Kake tribe were terror-stricken. The destruction of their villages, it was thought, would cause them to surrender the murderers of the two white men to the military authorities, and that they dare not longer harbor them.

The weather at Sitka was wet and disagreeable.

All were well at Forts Wrangle, Simpson and Rupert, and the Indians were quiet.

It is reported that several of the ships of the Pacific Squadron, including the flagship Powhatan and the Mohongo, be put out of commission on their arrival here. The officers and men are ordered to the squadrons off the Cuban coast.

Charge to a Grand Jury by a Philadelphia Judge.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, April 5.

Judge BREWSTER, in a charge to the Grand Jury, said: It is to be feared that we deal too leniently with those who make crime their profession, and that we at times endeavor to atone for this error by rushing into opposite extremes and indiscriminate prosecution of the innocent along with the guilty. I would recommend you to see to it that no criminal goes unpunished by our remissness, and that no innocent person suffer delay even for an hour in securing his discharge. It is time that the bad should be made to feel the power of the law. It has come to pass, gentlemen, that men are shot down or stoned to death upon our highways, and that the law seems as powerless for their vindication as it was for their protection. Grand Juries hesitate to find true bills, and petit juries often refuse to convict except of inferior grades, frequently coupling those verdicts with recommendations to mercy, and even in an occasional case of great atrocity, when conviction is followed by a sentence of death, the Executive is besieged for a pardon. It is owing to these efforts to thwart justice that it has come to pass in Philadelphia that it is more dangerous to pick a pocket than to take a life. The thief is much more certain of being punished than the murderer. This will continue until public opinion undergoes a change.

The Philadelphia Bond Robbery—Further Particulars—Reward of $25,000 Offered.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, April 5.

Of the securities stolen yesterday from the Beneficial Saving Fund, about $400,000 were registered bonds not convertible. The coupon bonds amounted to $150,000, of which $98,000 were five-twenties. The Society offer a reward of $25,000 for the arrest of the burglars and the recovery of assets. The managers have suspended payments to depositors for the present. In addition to the bonds belonging to the Society there were a large amount of boxes belonging to private parties, deposited for safety. Reported Landings of Americans—Military Situation—Police Reorganized—Puerto Principe.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Wednesday, March 31, 1869.

The reports of the landing of filibusters and recruits from the United States for the service of the Cubans increase, and, although the Spanish papers are very careful not to publish anything which might throw light on the affair and dishearten their countrymen, enough is known that several hundred have arrived. Popular rumor speaks of thousands, but the most reliable reports only mention from four to seven hundred. Should this to the Spaniards unwelcome emigration continue, the war will then assume a distinct feature altogether, and the supremacy of the Anglo-Saxon race be enabled to show itself refulgently. Instead of skirmishes and running fights, there will be battles, and the Spaniards will no longer need to complain of fighting an unseen enemy, and the marksmanship of the Southern riflemen will prevent the official accounts from teeming with glowing accounts of heroic battles and valorous deeds of arms, where thousands were engaged and only one soldier wounded and another bruised. The idea of reporting bruised soldiers, I believe, belongs to Spain alone, as the accounts of big battles where French or other members of the Latin race were engaged, make no mention of bruised soldiers.

The military situation—or as it might properly be termed, the mystery situation—remains in statu quo, although the Spaniards have undoubtedly gained a great deal of territory and importance within the past month, in the central department of the island especially. These are not calculations or reports based on the flaming and lying bulletins published in the Diario, or from letters received from the reliable gentleman who has peculiar means for receiving news from his friends in the insurgent camp; that renowned personage, the reliable gentleman just from the front, not being known in Cuba. The fact is, that telegraphic communication with Villa Clara, Cienfuegos, Sagua, and St. Spiritus, has been reëstablished, and if the mere fact of this is taken into account, considering the puerile force needed to destroy a telegraph pole or wire, it argues conclusively that the insurgents have withdrawn from the sections of country they occupied, which assuredly they did not do from any motives of convenience, as the district of the Cinco Villas is one of great importance to them. Of course no Cuban likes to believe this, although they are perfectly right in discrediting the reports published in the Spanish papers, which are only so many exaggerated versions and baptisms of rows magnified into battles, ending with the usual "the insurgents ran." But the Spaniards also ran sometimes and in a direction the very opposite to that occupied by the enemy; then it is called a makr of prudence or else given some other equally euphonious title, but the fact of their not advancing leave the results, that they were afraid to meet the Cubans. In connection with this the Navy may also be mentioned, but in a different light; the Spanish man-of-war Blasco de Garay bombarded the half of the town of Gibara, occupied by the insurgents, for more than five hours with shell and round shot, the vessel being anchored half a mile from shore. The headquarters of the insurgent general could be plainly seen from the ship's deck, orderlies were riding in and out, but not a single man was seen to run. The gunboat Africa did the thing with exactly the same result. Very funny gunnery this, as did the gunners do not care to hurt anybody.

EMIGRATION.

The merchants and tradesmen are beginning to feel the effects of the exodus of Cubans, and the Government is trying its best to prevent the people from leaving. To work on the feelings of the timid all kinds of rumors are gotten up, the latest dodge being an advertisement in the official gazette, and signed by Dr. HONDARES, the head of the medical faculty, requesting all persons to come and be vaccinated, as the newspapers had stated that small pox existed in New-York. This is very good; small pox existing here all the year round. And the best part of the joke is that a high Government official quotes the New-York newspapers as authority, such a thing having never been heard of before.

THE CODRINGTON CASE.

Mr. CODRINGTON, the United States Consular Agent at Gilan, who was brought here in irons on the steamer Pelayo, has been released at the instance of Consul HALL. He was charged with being a spy of the insurgents. Mr. INNOCENCIS CASANOVA, a Cuban and a naturalized citizen of the United States, has been arrested for the second time on the charge of being disloyal, and is now in prison.

ROWDY VOLUNTEERS.

On Sunday last the row was commenced by the Volunteers, a member of said force being a notorious character named Lavie, bull-fighter by profession, and, like all bullies, a coward and assassin. He stabbed several persons, and being aided by several drunken rowdy companions, committed such excesses that even the mild and kind Government could not overlook it, and the well-meaning portion of the Spaniards became so disgusted with what they had seen and heard that, to the great regret of the brutes among the so-called loyal patriots, a court-martial was organized, and the two scoundrels sent to a Spanish fort as prisoners. Of course they will be released in a short time, for the sympathies of this race are always with the sanguinary, especially in cases like this.

REORGANIZATION OF THE POLICE.

The Police force has been reorganized as a matter of economy, but more probably to check the many abuses continually committed by military satraps, who accidentally were called to fill the position of chief or subordinate. The changes are very slight, but they are the forerunners of more radical reforms, as I have been informed. The Governor of Havana, a civil official, will in future act as chief of the force, and the different Commissaries and Celadors as his subordinates.

PUERTO PRINCIPE.

The Fanal, of Puerto Principe, in a supplement to its issue of 27th ult., gives a gloomy picture of the state of affairs in that region. The Fanal is edited and published by Spaniards. It says: In the interior the greater part of the houses are deserted; some of them abandoned by those adhering to the Government, others by fear and by the alarms propagated, but more by hunger, which promises to be great in the country, and the remainder of the people are acting outside of their accustomed habits.

Worship, the school, order, all the duties of life which class as civil, are suspended; the young are scattered, the houses of worship converted into soldiers' quarters, the people sad and fretful, the creditor no less afflicted than the debtor, and as it were, there has been arranged an armistice between all the duties, civil, religious and social.

The customs and manners of society are stubborn and intractable as friendships when they become tortuous. The amusements and public recreations put on a rigorous sadness; the doors a little before night-fall are shut up; the streets are deserted; while during the day, and throwing aside decorum, men, women and children are seen out hunting for something to eat, and others crying because of a want of means to buy these; all of which are put up to the highest prices, and money demanded to be paid down upon the spot. Horrible situation! Yet worse still under another aspect. In each house the project is agitated of flying to the country, and as this is prohibited, there is no means or stratagem which is not resorted to in order to its accomplishment. The modesty and propriety of matrons and maidens even, obliged as they are to incur the risks and be exposed to the wondering looks of public vigilance; the impropriety and [illegible] appearance of their [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible] young lady [illegible] [illegible] on foot, as though she were a ser[illegible]

QUASIMODO.

THE PHILADELPHIA ROBBERY.

Full Particulars of the Robbery of the Beneficial Saving Fund Society on Sunday—Over One Million Dollars Stolen—Escape of the Robbers with their Plunder.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer, April 5.

Undoubtedly the heaviest, boldest and most unparalleled robbery that ever took place in this city, and which, perhaps, has had no equal in the country, was perpetrated sometime between 8 o'clock yesterday morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Between the hours mentioned, the building occupied by the Beneficial Saving Fund Society of Philadelphia, situated at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, was entered by robbers, and completely stripped of everything valuable in the shape of money, bonds, &c., that the institution had on hand. A rough estimate places the value of the money, bonds, &c., carried off by the burglars at $1,000,000, of which about $400,000 were in coupon bonds, which are not registered, and which can, of course, be easily sold for cash by the burglars. About $8,000 in greenbacks were carried off, and the balance was in untransferable bonds, &c., which will be of no use to the robbers.

The Saving Society used the first floor of the large dwelling at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, the room being formerly the parlor of the residence. The entrance is on Chestnut-street, by a flight of steps. The windows are on Chestnut and Twelfth streets, and in the rear is a window which opens on the inclosed entrance to the billiard saloon on the second story of the building on Twelfth-street, adjoining the Saving Fund Society rooms. This window, which affords, from its position, an easy entrance into the Society's counting-room, has been encased with sheet iron, and it was thought securely fastened; but it was no barrier to the robbers, who effected an entrance through this window.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the proprietor of the billiard saloon mentioned, tried to get into his saloon, but found the door on Twelfth-street so peculiarly fastened that his key was useless. He then entered by a roundabout way, through an entrance on Chestnut-street, and when in the act of going down stairs to see what was the matter, he discovered that the window belonging to the Saving Fund Society was open. A short examination soon disclosed the fact that the window had been forced open. The alarm was then given, and some of the directors of the Institution were summoned, when an examination of the premises disclosed a wholesale robbery.

Everything about the room was in a state of inextricable confusion. It was found that the large Lillie vault fire-proof safe, situated at the southwest angle of the room, was broken open, and its entire contents, consisting of all the bonds, money, &c., in charge of the Society, were abstracted. These valuables were contained in numerous tin boxes, which were taken out one by one, and broken open, and their contents secured. A small safe stationed within the large one, having four locks, and which contained papers of the greatest value, was lifted out into the floor, and the lock picked, and every paper taken from it. The carpet of the room was torn up in different places, and torn envelopes that contained valuable bonds, &c., were strewed around in all directions. The robbers had evidently been at work for several hours, for it was found that a large piece of timber, evidently prepared for the purpose, had been fastened in an upright position on the floor, near the safe door, by means of iron hinges screwed to the floor, and behind this was a prop, securely planted against this upright post. This contrivance was used to afford a sort of support to the drill used to drill a hole into the safe door, by which the burglars (who evidently knew their business thoroughly; and were professional hands) were enabled to pick the lock.

The combination lock of the safe was knocked off, and a hole drilled through the chilled steel forming the panels of the safe door, about three inches to the right of the place where the combination lock was. This hole was drilled to the depth of about three inches. A paper containing powder, and different-sized "bits," a large brace, and a bottle of alcohol, were found in the room, which had been left behind by the daring robbers.

The only bond left behind by the robbers was a $1,000 one, which was found on the floor. The mortgages that the Saving Fund had on hand were not carried off by the robbers, and a number of certificates of shares of stock were left behind. In a box in the safe was a large quantity of silverware, consisting of knives, forks, spoons, &c., and which belonged to different depositors. The scoundrels left this behind, it being too bulky for them to carry off in addition to the large bundle of bonds, &c., taken. Nothing of value was left in the safe except a few pennies.

Mr. P. QUEEN, the Treasurer of the institution, is a loser to the extent of $45,000 by the robbery, he having in the safe personal property, consisting of $20,000 Alleghany 5 per cent. bonds; $10,000 West Jersey 6s; $10,000 Camden and Amboy 1889s, and $5,000 Delaware 6s.

The watchman employed by the Saving Fund Society left the building about 8:05 o'clock yesterday morning.

It is almost incredible how the robbery could have been committed. It was done in broad daylight on the great thoroughfare of the city, and on a clear day, when hundreds of persons were passing to and fro. In emerging from the building the robbers must have had a large bundle of papers, and how they could have been engaged for hours at their nefarious work and then escaped with so much plunder unobserved, is difficult to understand.

The institution was used to a great extent by servant girls, &c., to deposit their scanty means, and many hundreds have lost all they possessed by the robbery. Soon after the discovery of the robbery word was sent to the Central Station, and Chief Detective Eneu and his assistants repaired to the scene and made an examination of the premises, with a view, if possible, to obtain some clue to the perpetrators of the bold and daring deed.

The following is a list of the bonds, &c., stolen: $20,000 Delaware State 6s; $10,200 5-20s of 1867; $21,000 5-20s of 1864; $4,000 5-20s of 1865; $102,000 Pennsylvania 5 per cent. bonds; $25,000 Connecting Railroad bonds; $15,000 Sunbury and Erie bonds; $20,000 Camden and Amboy mortgage bonds; $3,000 of $100 each of Camden and Amboy mortgage bonds; $40,000 Long Island 6 per cent. bonds; $4,000 Philadelphia 5 per cent. registered loan; $38,000 Philadelphia 6 per cent. loan; $50,000 Pennsylvania State 6 per cent. loan; $77,700 United States 5-20s of 1865, registered; of these there were fifteen bonds of $5,000 each, two of $1,000, one of $500, and two of $100; $33,000 Pennsylvania Company's War loan; $10,000 New Jersey State 6s; $4,000 Pittsburgh 5 per cent. Corporation bonds; $32,000 Allegheny City 5 per cent. bonds; $1,000 Camden City bonds; $32,000 Schuylkill Navigation bonds; $15,000 North Pennsylvania Railroad 6 per cent. bonds; $1,000 North Pennsylvania Railroad 7 per cent. bonds; $25,000 United States bonds of 1881; $20,000 5-20 bonds; $27,000 10-40 bonds; $25,000 Philadelphia and Erie 6 per cent. bonds.

Further Particulars—Suspension of the Bank.

From the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, April 5.

No clue has as yet been obtained which would lead to the detection of the bold and daring robbers. That the thieves are experts is evident from the manner in which the work was done. The robbery has probably been planned for some time, and the movements of the watchman and the officers of the institution carefully studied. On the door of the safe are several marks which show that a close calculation had been made in regard to the operations upon the lock. The door of the safe was bored so that the drill would strike the point of the lever in the lock. When so struck the lock seems to have tumbled apart, and thus made the opening of the door an easy task. A jimmy of steel, and of very fine manufacture, was found this morning in the basement of the Academy of Natural Sciences, where it had evidently been thrown. The detectives are actively at work, and it is to be hoped that they will be able to discover the thieves. The news of the robbery has created considerable consternation among the depositors, and a crowd gathered about the office this morning. No money was paid out, and the following card has been issued:

☞ BENEFICIAL SAVINGS FUND, APRIL 5, 1869.—In consequence of the recent robbery of a portion of the assets of this institution, it is deemed expedient by the Board of Managers not to pay any money to depositors for the present.

VELOCIPEDES.

Opening of a New Hall—A Bicycle for Ladies—Male and Female Riders.

The most fashionable assemblage of spectators yet gathered at any velocipede exhibition we have had in this City was that which marked the opening of the Apollo Hall, in Twenty-eighth-street, by the PEARSALL brothers, last evening. The contrast between the gathering last night and the attendance at the Twenty-second-street hall the night the PEARSALLS inaugurated the first velocipede school, was striking. A very attractive programme was prepared, the feature of which was the exhibition of a new style of velocipede, designed expressly for the use of lady riders, and this was gracefully ridden by Mr. PEARSALL's sister. The driving wheel of the "Peerless" velocipede—for that is its name—is in the rear, and as the guiding wheel is of small diameter, the form of the machine admits of the rider taking her seat wearing an ordinary dress, just as she would take her seat in a carriage. Another style of bicycle, too, for ladies, with a chair seat, was exhibited by two ladies, accompanied by the PICKERINGS, the machine they rode being similar to the Pickering model. This required a dress specially adapted for the machine. The ladies rode with a degree of modest grace charmingly attractive, and their skill was envied by the fair sex present.

An unusual number of machines were exhibited, prominent among which for handsome finish were the Wood machine, a $500 bicycle gracefully ridden by Mr. COULTON attracting special attention, as did a new Demorest which Mr. BURROUGHS rode. A new Dexter machine, and the Soper model, a rather complicated piece of bicycle mechanism, were among the list. The whole exhibition was decidedly a fine display, the gymnastic feats by the TELLON boys and Messrs. HOVELL and WITTY being quite a feature.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Board of Aldermen.

This Board met at 2 P. M. yesterday, and after transacting a quantity of routine business adjourned for one week.

Board of Assistant Aldermen.

This Board met at 2 P. M. yesterday, Mr. MONAGHAN in the chair.

Mr. PINCKNEY offered a resolution calling on the Street Commissioner to report the quantity of street repairing and repaving done last year, and also what amount has been expended therefor from the appropriation of $135,000 made in 1868.

Mr. PINCKNEY said he offered the resolution in order that the Street Commissioner might have an opportunity of replying to the charges made by the Citizens' Association, that work had been charged for which had not been done.

It was referred to the Committee on Street Paving.

Resolutions were concurred in to remove the liberty-poles corner of West Broadway and Franklin and Beach streets; directing the Street Commissioner to advertise for proposals for building a pier at the foot of Forty-first-street, North River, and donating $15,000 to the New-York Infirmary for Women and Children.

The following donations were made to pay assessments: Sullivan-street M. E. Church, $208; Church of the Intercession, $1,749 59; St. Timothy's Church, $1,785 51.

Resolutions were adopted to pave with Belgian pavement Maiden-lane, Eleventh-street, from Thirty-third to Thirty-fourth-avenue, and Fifth-avenue, from Fifty-ninth to Sixty-ninth-street.

The Board then adjourned to Thursday next.

The New-York Naturalization Frauds.

On the 26th of March JOHN I. DAVENPORT, attorney for the New-York Union League Club, addressed a letter to the County Clerk, CHARLES E. LOEW, asking him if he would permit the completion of the list of naturalization applications which was commenced by the Congressional Committee on New-York Election Frauds, and intimating that if he refused permission, the matter would be referred to the Judiciary Committee with the request that means should be employed to enforce compliance with the demand. Mr. LOEW replied as follows:

COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE,
NEW COUNTY COURT-HOUSE,
NEW-YORK, March 26, 1869.

SIR: In answer to your note of this date, it is sufficient to say that, with very great interruption to the business of this office, I allowed thousands of papers forming part of its records to be searched out and submitted to the inspection of persons professing to act on behalf of a committee of Congress. Such examination of course ceased with the final adjournment of the last Congress.

I cannot consent to renew it to oblige individuals. Not only is the interference with the regular business of the office too serious, but I find the risk to be too great. I am bound to secure the safety of the records of this office, and the fact that all the papers heretofore submitted to the inspection I have named were not returned, admonishes me to avoid every such danger when I can.

As for the threat implied in your note, I beg to add that I never have been, and am not now, afraid personally, politically or officially, of any action or inquiry by the House of Representatives, or of any of its committees, touching my own acts, or those of my subordinates, or affecting official records.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. LOEW.

To JOHN I. DAVENPORT, Esq., No. 7 Murray-street.

It is reported from Washington that a resolution was to be introduced in the House yesterday to appoint a special committee, with power to sit during the recess and take all necessary steps to obtain the lists mentioned.

Extensive Fire in Bergen City—Over Twenty Families Burned Out.

Yesterday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, a fire broke out in the middle of the block on Colden-place, opposite Library Hall, Bergen City, in a basement liquor store kept by BERNARD McCOURT, but from what cause could not be definitely ascertained.

Four dwellings were totally destroyed, and two badly damaged. They were occupied by twenty-five families, who saved most of their household effects, except those who lived in the building where the fire broke out. The buildings were valued at from $3,000 to $3,500 each.

JOHN ROURKE was the owner of the building where the fire originated. The adjoining house west was owned by THOMAS KIRWAN, and was occupied by four families. The next house west, owned by Mrs. MORAN, of Jersey City, was burned on the side and roof, and was damaged about $2,000. The first house east of ROURKE's was owned by JAMES MALOY, the second by PATRICK GARVEY, and the next, damaged on the side and roof to the extent of $1,500, was owned by FRANK NAUGHTON. The corner building, also owned by Mr. NAUGHTON, was damaged by water. Over twenty families thus suddenly found themselves homeless. They were kindly provided for by the inhabitants in the neighborhood.

The Ballston Spa Artesian Lithia Spring.

While the public mind is exercised in regard to different mineral springs and their healing properties, it is well for those who desire to be relieved of their infirmities to look well into the caldron of boiling advertisements that are issued nowadays, and carefully select from the great number those of real merit, and partake only of such as possess it. The days of raising the dead and of curing all the ills to which flesh is heir have passed, and we live in an age of common sense, which compels people who value health think before they act. "To the wise a word is sufficient." To say that the Ballston Artesian Lithia Spring possesses superior merit, is not all, however, that can be said in its favor. Although it performs miraculous cures, it cannot bring the dying to life, but gives life to the living, builds up the broken-down constitution, and gives new life and spirits to those who imbibe its healing waters. It not alone contains Lithia, the valuable ingredient so efficacious in removing uric deposits, gravel, rheumatism and gout, but other ingredients which eradicate dyspepsia, piles, kidney diseases, scrofula and scrofulous diseases, and leaves the system in a better condition, physically and mentally, than any other known water.

The very fact of this water being of twice the strength of any other known mineral water, and a mild cathartic, should make it to every intelligent mind a far superior water to others, especially as it contains all the ingredients of those springs which have a world-wide reputation. A trial of its power as a remedy in disease is now undergoing a rigid test in our hospitals in this City and elsewhere, and promises more than could well be asked in its favor, while hundreds all over the United States are already sounding forth its praise as an unequaled medicinal agent such as the world never knew since the days of old when the waters were troubled by the hand of Him who holds our feeble thread of life. To the afflicted we say, "Try it and be convinced;" it is all that it is recommended to be. We have no object to misrepresent to any one; "try it and be convinced," we say again, and know of the [illegible] [illegible]. For sale by all druggists. Depot, No. 6 Park-row, Room No. 2. F. The Meriden Britannia Company,

NO. 199 BROADWAY,

invite attention to a valuable patented improvement in

by which those parts most subject to wear receive an extra coat of silver three times the usual thickness, viz.: on the back of the handle, heel of the bowl, and points of forks, spoons, &c.

This process adds three times to the durability of goods so plated, at an additional expense of only 20 per cent. above our Standard Plate. All spoons and forks stamped "1847, Rogers Bros. XII." and with our trade mark, are plated as above.

We also call attention to the new patent

which is warranted more durable than any heretofore offered, and is pronounced by Dr. S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, and other eminent medical authorities, to be "perfectly free from anything poisonous or injurious, and to preserve water pure," which is not the case with ice pitchers not porcelain-lined.

We are also introducing a valuable novelty for a BAKING DISH, which is porcelain-lined and fireproof, with an elegant silver-plated receiver, to be used when ready for the table, which will retain the heat at least twice as long as ordinary dishes.

Our facilities for producing fine plated ware are unsurpassed; having the largest manufactories of their kind in the world, and employing the most experienced workmen to be found either in this country or Europe, we are enabled to offer the most complete assortment of of every description, to be found in this country.

The above goods are for sale by the principal dealers in Silver-Plated Ware, and to the trade only by the KING FARO AND HIS SATELLITES; OR, LEAVES FROM THE DIARY OF A REFORMED BOWERY BOY. WRITTEN FOR THE NEW-YORK CLIPPER. By JOHN COOPER VAIL, Author of the "Hebrew Gladiator," "La Tour de Nesle," "Life Scenes in Our Great Cities," &c.

The story as a whole is one of intense interest. The scenes change like the variations of a kaleidoscope, from the great bank of John Law, whose chips were of solid gold, and who turned for a million, to the dark slums of St. Antoine, St. Giles and the Five Points, where the smallest coin was devoured by the Tiger. The third book, entitled "The Star of the Pave; Or, on the Tear and on the Town," introduces many living characters among the gay gamboliers, who will be readily recognized by the fast men about town; while it also reveals the wonderful history of the Coral Pearl, of the Crescent City, and the terrible secrets of the Vigilance Committee in Vicksburg and San Francisco. Do not fail to purchase No. 1, Vol. XVII., of the NEW-YORK CLIPPER, now ready.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

A very respectable number of persons assembled at the salesrooms yesterday. The bidding was fair, but not quite as brisk as was expected. The tightness of the money market undoubtedly, had its effect, and kept away many who otherwise would have been present. The feeling though was very favorable, and the indications good. The sales announced for to-day are varied, and embrace several very desirable pieces of City and country property. The Fort Hamilton property, for sale by Messrs. BLEECKER, SON & CO., is a very choice piece, and should command a good price. Other valuable pieces of property, in this City and elsewhere, will be sold, the particulars of which will be found below.

Messrs. BLEECKER, SON & CO. will sell an elegant mansion house and 7 1-6 acres on the bluff at Fort Hamilton, the summer residence of the late Dr. A. B. WHITING; also, two dwelling-houses and 1½ acres on the beach. The mansion is two-story, attic and basement, 40x40, with piazzas front and rear; house, lawns and outbuildings first-class. The situation of this property is very delightful; it commands a fine view of the Narrows and Lower Bay, and is convenient to the Brooklyn City Railroad and the steamboat landing. The same firm will sell four lots on Ninetieth-street, north side, west of Eighth-avenue. They are situated on the highest elevation west of the Park. Two lots on First-avenue, west side, between Seventy-seventh and Seventy-eighth streets. Two lots on north side of Sixty-third-street, west of Lexington-avenue. Four-story and basement brick tenement-house and lot on Second-avenue, between Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth streets. Also, the following Yorkville property: Two-story frame high-stoop and brick basement house and lot on the south side of Seventy-fourth-street, east of Avenue A; two-story high-stoop frame house, with brick basement, and lot on north side of Seventy-third-street, east of Avenue A; also, adjoining, on the east, same kind of house.

Messrs. MULLER, WILKINS & CO. will sell, by order of JOHN SIMS, Receiver, a lease for seven years of the four-story brown-stone dwelling on the northeast corner of Fifth-avenue and Twenty-sixth-street; the three-story brick house and lot No. 22 Eldridge-street; the three-story brown-stone front house and lot No. 131 East Thirty-eighth-street, east of Lexington-avenue; the four-story high-stoop brick house No. 55 Greenwich-avenue, southwest corner of Perry-street.

Messrs. LAWRENCE & OAKLEY will, by order of the East River Ferry Company, sell seventy-one very fine located lots, 25x100 feet each, comprising nearly two blocks, fronting on Ferry, Front, West Third, West Fourth and West avenues, Hunter's Point, Long Island, directly opposite the Long Island Railroad depot and ferry.

Messrs. E. H. LUDLOW & Co. will sell the plot of ground northeast corner of Grand and Crosby streets, with church edifice thereon. By order of the executors of JOSEPH MEEKS, deceased, the four-story and basement brick store, No. 52 Broad-street; and by order of the Supreme Court, the three-story brick store and dwelling, southwest corner of Lexington-avenue and Fifty-third-street. They also have a peremptory sale of a mansion and twenty lots on Pacific-street and Atlantic and New-York avenues, Brooklyn.

Mr. JAMES M. 5TH-ST.—Eighty-nine lots on both sides of 5th-st., lying between Clinton and Lexington avs., and east of Lexington-av.

The above-mentioned property is too well known to require a long description, being on high, dry and healthy ground. The soil is a rich, sandy loam, adapted especially to fruit and garden vegetables. The water is pure, soft and at all times cold. The surroundings are owned by such parties as will insure the erection of none but first-class residences in the vicinity. A number of large and beautiful dwellings on lands joining are now under contract, to be completed soon.

The view from this site is unsurpassed, commanding a picturesque and uninterrupted view of Washington Rock, the mountain, and the more thickly settled portion of the town.

Clinton-av. is one of the most fashionable drives leading from the town.

4th-st. is a new, wide, and one of the most promising streets of Plainfield, being a straight and direct road to the railroad depot, avoiding the dangerous and disagreeable necessity of crossing the railroad track in going to or returning from the railroad depot.

Each plot of ground is divided into four lots, 25x150 feet each, and will be sold in quantities to suit purchasers.

This opportunity of securing at a very moderate price some of the most desirable building lots in the town is one seldom offered, and is well worthy the attention of those contemplating to build, and worth an examination of the premises.

All lots offered will be sold without reserve, and on easy terms, to the highest bidder.

At the same time will be sold that beautifully located plot adjoining the residence of E. P. Sanger, Esq., on Clinton-av., containing about four acres. One needs to be on the spot only a moment to appreciate its admirable position for a gentleman's residence.

For further particulars apply to HARRIOTT, VAIL & CO., Plainfield, N. J., or to A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO., New-York, at either of whose offices maps of the property may be obtained.

FEDERAL OFFICES.

Recent Appointments—Feeling Among Office-Seekers in this City—Scenes at the Custom-house Yesterday.

The nominations for Federal offices in this City, sent in to the Senate on Friday last, have created a flutter among the legion of office-seekers. As the nominations are not yet confirmed, however, it is impossible for those who desire to feed at the public crib to lay their plans with any degree of surety for attaining the positions they aim at. The Custom-house Departments have been literally besieged since the advent of the new officials, (April 1,) by applicants for office, and "still they come." Yesterday a large crowd of persons had gathered around the door of Collector GRINNELL's private office, each one of them anxiously awaiting a decision as to whether his claim to become a servant of Uncle Sam had been considered. The majority of these had already presented their petitions, accompanied with vouchers as to the soundness of their party politics, and all bore upon their countenances a troubled look that told plainly of the anxiety of mind they were undergoing. Besides these, additional office-seekers were continually swelling the crowd—men who had not yet presented their applications, but who were extremely desirous of bringing them to the Collector's notice, and who were much chagrined at the fact that they were obliged to remain in the rear rank of the regiment of applicants. "First come, first served," was the order of the day established by the Collector yesterday, and the rule was rigidly adhered to. Only one applicant was admitted at a time. There was, in consequence, much pushing and crowding and squeezing around the door of the office. Those who had obtained choice places near the entrance were regarded as fortunate fellows, and were envied by those of the rear guard, who were continually endeavoring to edge their way to the front. When the office was closed at 4 o'clock, but very few applications had been acted on, and of these still fewer of the applicants were sent on their way rejoicing at having been appointed to places under the Government. Not many new appointments have as yet been made in the Collector's Department, and it is by no means certain that the personnel of the department is to be materially changed. The crowd will doubtless haunt the door of the office to-day, and until a final decision shall be arrived at respecting every office in the Collector's gift.

General MERRITT, the new Naval Officer, adopted a very good plan by which he "shut down" on the applicants who hankered for places under him. He called together all the employes of the Naval Office and addressed to them a short speech, the substance of which was, that whether he should remove any or all the officials who belonged to his department, was a question he had not as yet decided. At any rate, all outsiders who sought positions in the office were given to understand that it would be useless for them to press their applications at this juncture of affairs. This decision of General MERRITT soon became known to the anxious crowd in waiting, and, as a consequence, the Naval Office has been comparatively free from the importunities of the "outs" who desire to become "ins." It is not probable that any changes will be effected here for some time to come. At any rate, no removals have yet been made.

Hon. A. B. CORNELL, the Surveyor of the Port, has experienced very little trouble from applicants for office. No removals have been made as yet, and, so far as is now known, there will be few, if any, changes in this department. The small number of positions that the Surveyor has at his disposal leaves him comparatively free from the vexatious annoyance of office-seekers.

As no action has yet been had in the Senate regarding the changes contemplated in the internal revenue offices, it is impossible to say what course of action is to be pursued by the officers nominated for the Collectorships and Assessorships, should they be confirmed. The interest of the mercantile community centres in the Thirty-second Collection District, from which it is proposed to remove SHERIDAN SHOOK, and to transfer thereto Collector BAILEY, now of the Fourth District. Both these gentlemen have earnest friends, and the question of the removal and appointment is discussed at times with some degree of vehemence by parties who assemble in the vicinity of the Cedar-street revenue office. Assessor WEBSTER of the same district is also on the list of those to be removed. It is proposed to transfer Assessor J. F. CLEVELAND, now of the Sixth District, to this office. There are those who assert that this proposed change is the work of the Wall-street brokers, against whom Mr. WEBSTER has been for some time waging war, and from many of whom he has demanded greater amounts of taxes than they paid under his predecessor, on the ground that they were really doing business as bankers, and liable, therefore, to pay a tax on all deposits. On the other hand, it is averred by many that if Mr. CLEVELAND is transferred to this office he will strictly follow out the plan inaugurated by Mr. WEBSTER in this respect, so that the brokers will not be gainers to any great extent by the proposed change. It may be stated here that Mr. CLEVELAND was not the person originally "pushed" for this assessorship. The change from the original "slate" was made in Washington, without any consultation being had with Wall-street on the subject.

It seems to be a foregone conclusion in the Ninth District that Hon. WM. A. DARLING will be confirmed as Collector without opposition. He has the good will of men of all parties, and his appointment will be hailed with pleasure. Mr. CALLAGHAN, the Collector heretofore, is in trouble respecting the conduct of his office, and is now in duress. The personnel of this office will be entirely changed under Mr. DARLING.

The nomination of General ALFRED PLEASONTON as Collector of the Fourth District meets with universal approval. Among the soldiers especially it is heartily seconded. Many of these complain that they have been compelled to stand back entirely when the subordinate positions in the Revenue Offices came to be distributed, and that they have, much to their chagrin, seen these places given to small ward politicians, who never rose higher than lip loyalty during the war. The soldiers think that General PLEASONTON will give them a fairer showing than they can expect from any civilian; hence they are anxious that his nomination should be confirmed.

Mr. LOCKWOOD L. DOTY's nomination as Assessor in the Sixth District, in place of Mr. CLEVELAND, is highly approved. The other proposed changes are J. V. GRIDLEY, to be Collector of the Eighth, JAMES MCCARTIN as Assessor in the Fifth, M. H. TREADWELL and A. P. KETCHUM as Assessors in the Seventh and Ninth Districts respectively.

In the District-Attorney's and United States Marshal's offices there will, it is said, be many changes, if the nominations of Messrs. PIERREPONT and WADSWORTH are confirmed. In both of these the employes are anxiously awaiting news from Washington.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Continuance of the Litigation Before Judge Barnard in the Supreme Court—The Credit Mobilier—Affidavits of Oakes Ames and Other Stockholders—Proceedings Before a Referee.

This case came up on several motions, but mainly on an order to show cause why the hearing on the merits should not be postponed for two or three weeks, as asked by the plaintiff. The reason assigned for asking the delay, particularly when it had been noticed for the first Monday of April inst., was that, owing to the obstructions which had been so repeatedly and persistently placed in plaintiff's way, it was found impossible for him to obtain the necessary testimony. The examination before the referee had to be suspended for several days, owing to the difficulty in getting open the safe. Mr. Field read an order, which he asked the Court to grant.

Mr. Allen, one of the counsel for the Union Pacific Company, in answer to the motions made by the other side, said he would read the joint affidavit of four directors and of Oakes Ames, a stockholder. This affidavit would give, in as few words as possible, the real condition of things, not only as to the management of the Union Pacific Road and the Credit Mobilier, and the way in which the funds had been expended, but from the affidavit something of the true history of this litigation might be learned according to their theory.

The following is the affidavit:

City and County of New-York: Oakes Ames, a stockholder, and Thomas C. Durant, John B. Alley, Sidney Dillon and Cornelius S. Bushnell, Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, and defendants in this action, being severally sworn, each for himself, deposes and says that he has heard read the complaint and first and second supplemental complaint in this action and knows the contents thereof. That as to the six shares of stock of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, alleged by the plaintiff to belong to him, the facts are as follows:

That during the progress of the work on the line of said Railroad a contract was made to enable said Company to prosecute said work, which by the terms thereof was not to be binding unless the same was assented to and confirmed by the stockholders of said Railroad. That the same was submitted to and approved by said stockholders, and therefore legal notice of such contract and approval was indorsed upon the [illegible] of said Company. That afterward, as deponents are informed and believe, said Fisk became the purchaser from a party who had assented to the said contract for the mere purpose of enabling him to bring an annoying suit against the Company, of six shares of said stock of the present value of [illegible], or thereabouts, receiving for the same a certificate upon which was plainly indorsed legal notice of and express ratification of all the acts of which he now complains, and deponents are advised by counsel, and believe, that as to said six shares of stock, the plaintiff is estopped from making any complaint or demand against the said Company or against any of the defendants in this action. That the said plaintiff has no other stock in the said corporation, nor any interest therein, nor any cause of action against the same, or against any of the defendants herein, except that arising upon the pretended subscription to the Company stock, as set forth in the original complaint, and that as to said stock, it is claimed by the Company that such original subscription was invalid and of no legal effect; that the same was made without any intention on the part of the plaintiff of paying for the same, or for the purpose of becoming a bona fide stockholder in said Company; that if valid the same belongs to parties other than the plaintiff; that the alleged offer by or [illegible] was by means of checks as hereinafter set forth, and without the risk or use of one dollar of the plaintiff's money or credit, and that in the inception thereof, as at all times since, the sole object of the plaintiff, as deponents believe and charge, was, in and by unusual and annoying threats and litigation, to compel the said corporation to pay [illegible] ... [illegible] ... plaintiff in respect to said subscription, at which time the said Fisk informed deponent that said sub-[illegible] ... [illegible] paid by the same person from whom he temporarily received possession of the check with which his alleged tender for said stock was made. And the said John B. Alley deposes and says, that on the 10th day of March last he had a conversation with plaintiff in the City of New-York, in which said Fisk said that he did not make his subscription to said stock in his own interest; that he made it in the interest of, at the request of, and to serve three Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad; that they behaved so meanly that he was led to take these proceedings against the Company; he said "I made this subscription for them, sent a man to Chicago, paid counsel, and incurred other expenses amounting to about $3,200, and I thought as I did it in their interest, and for their benefit, that they ought to have paid the bill, but they were so d—d mean they would not, and then I made up my mind to try it on and see what I could do; that I then raised my price to $75,000, and as they would not settle at that, I now propose to have $100,000, and if they don't accede to my demand, I'll put it to them until they have been damaged enough to conclude it is best to do it." That in no part of this conversation did the plaintiff allege or claim that the said subscription, or any part thereof, was made for himself, or that he had any interest therein; on the contrary, he expressly stated that this suit was brought solely because somebody had not paid his expenses of $3,200, as aforesaid. And the said Cornelius S. Bushnell says that he had a conversation with said plaintiff in July last, after the commencement of this suit, in New-York, in which the plaintiff stated that said alleged subscription to said stock was made for two persons, directors in said railroad, and not for himself, and that he had no interest therein, and that the reason why he had brought this suit, was because his principals had not paid to him certain expenses he had been put to in retaining counsel; and said he, "I have commenced my suit, and I want a large sum of money, and if you do not settle with me, the papers are made out and signed by the Judge for a receiver of the Union Pacific Railroad, and he will be appointed ex parte before 2 o'clock to-morrow;" that deponent at first believed said Fisk's statements, and was much alarmed by these threats, and feared that the Company would be compelled to pay almost any sum the plaintiff chose to demand, as at that time the Company had many millions of property in New-York, which if seized without notice by a receiver would have put an end temporarily to all work on the road; that no receiver was appointed at that time, but fearing that the plaintiff's threats might at some future time be carried into execution, the Company took measures to remove so much of its property as was convenient out of the jurisdiction of this Court before any formal notice of an application for the appointment of a receiver. And the said Thos. C. Durant deposes that he was present at the time of the making of the said pretended subscription for 15,000 shares of the stock of the Company; that said Fisk informed deponent that Josiah Bardwell, of Boston, one of the defendants herein, would subscribe for a large amount of the stock of this Company if present; that Bardwell was expected in New-York on the day such subscription was made, but had not arrived; and that the plaintiff was desirous that said Bardwell's interest should be protected in his absence; that deponent had provided, for the purpose of making a subscription on his own account to said stock, a certified check, drawn by himself, as had also one H. S. McComb, and as had also, as deponent now remembers, one H. C. Crane; that the aggregate of said checks was $275,000; that the plaintiff volunteered to subscribe in his own name for 5,000 shares, taking these checks to be used as a tender; that such subscription was made for deponent for said Bardwell, McComb and Crane, as deponent understands it, and not for the plaintiff, each of the parties aforesaid being interested therein, either in proportion as said checks were contributed or as might thereafter have been agreed between this deponent, said Bardwell, McComb and Crane, the precise interest of each not being settled; that said checks so used by the plaintiff were at all times practically within the control of this deponent; that said plaintiff did not contribute any money or incur any risk whatever, and in this subscription was the mere agent of deponent and of the other parties before mentioned; that the plaintiff, within a few minutes thereafter, holding the other checks at the special request of said McComb, made another subscription of five thousand shares of said stock for the use and benefit of one Turner, and in his name, and again tendered to the Treasurer of said road the same identical checks which had been offered and refused for the first subscription, and did not offer a different tender than the checks aforesaid; that immediately afterward, finding that said checks would not be received, the plaintiff again went through the form of subscribing for 5,000 more shares of stock, and again offered to the Treasurer the said three checks, and no others, making no other or different tender, and while deponent did not object to the use of his check, because he knew that it would not be received by the Treasurer, so that deponent could not lose his money, yet deponent did not lend, nor did said Fisk borrow or intend to borrow, any money from deponent, nor would deponent have lent to him the amount of his said checks, or any other large sums for any purpose whatever without security. And deponent further says that said checks were then handed back by Fisk, and the same checks were thereupon and within a few minutes again offered and tendered to the Treasurer of the road in payment of still further subscriptions by other parties to the stock of the Company until, without the payment of any money whatever, and without even going through the form of drawing new checks, subscriptions for about two millions of dollars were nominally made to the stock of the Company, on the basis alone of the $275,000 furnished by deponent and his associates in interest as aforesaid, all of said pretended subscriptions being rejected by the Company on the same grounds which were insisted upon as invalidating said subscriptions so made by said Fisk, for this deponent and his associates in interest as aforesaid. Deponent further says that other large subscriptions, amounting to over $30,000,000, were made at about the same time by Messrs. Alley, Dillon, Blair, and others, which were in the same manner refused by the Company for the same cause, and the same have never been recognized as valid; that deponent had, previous to said New-York subscriptions, determined to send an agent to Chicago to make a subscription there to the stock of the said Company, and said Fisk proposed that deponent should employ a friend of his for that purpose, which deponent assented to; gave the necessary $100 for his expenses, sent him to Chicago to make a subscription, and after his return paid him $500 for his services. That while in Chicago, as deponent is informed and believes, the said messenger made a subscription in the name of Fisk for five thousand more shares, and gave a draft for some sum on New-York in payment therefor, which draft, when it reached the Treasurer of the Company, was rejected by him as not being money within the requirements of the charter of the Company, and for other reasons and said pretended subscription was wholly invalid and void, and said Fisk has never paid any sum of money whatever on account of the same. By reason whereof the said Fisk has no stock or interest in said Company, to the extent of one dollar, save only the six shares before referred to, and and his whole pretended claim arises from and out of the aforesaid farcial use of deponent's check and those of his associates, based upon which said Fisk now claims to have a large pecuniary interest in the stock of this Company. Deponent further says, that the pretence of said Fisk, that he has paid the sum of $3,200 or any other sum whatever for costs and expenses in connection with said subscriptions, which he now falsely alleges to be the cause of his present persecution of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, is, as deponent believes and charges, wholly untrue. And all the deponents before named depose and say that each and every of the material allegations in said original complaint and in the supplemental complaints is, and are, absolutely false and without substantial foundation in fact, and the material allegations contained in the affidavits, based upon which a temporary receiver was appointed by this Court, are in like manner false, malicious, and absolutely untrue. Deponents further say that the averments of plaintiff, in respect to the connection of the Credit Mobilier of America with the Union Pacific Railroad Company, and in regard to the profits received or paid, or agreed to be paid, to the Credit Mobilier for the construction of said road, or any part thereof, are wholly without foundation in point of fact. That the facts are as follows, and not otherwise: The first contract made for the construction of a small portion of the road of the Company, long after it was made and after much of the work under it was complete, was assumed by the Credit Mobilier of America, which Company agreed to become the agent of the contractor, and to advance the money necessary to enable him to complete his work for a commission. That the Credit Mobilier did advance to him a large sum of money, the work was completed, the contract price was paid and the whole connection of the Credit Mobilier of America with the Union Pacific Railroad Company was ended except that there is an unsettled balance claimed by the contractor in the year 1866, and from that time to the present the Credit Mobilier of America has had no contract with the said Union Pacific Railroad Company, either for the building or equipment of its road, or for the purchase of its securities, since February in the year 1867, and each of the allegations of the complaints or any of them in this action as to any other or different arrangement or contracts than those above set forth, is and are false without the semblance of truth; that the Credit Mobilier of America had an original capital of ($2,000,000) two millions of dollars, all of which was paid in in cash, which was subsequently increased to ($3,750,000) three millions seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars; that since its organization it has paid to its stockholders two dividends of six per cent. each and no more, and its present assets do not exceed its original capital; that at the time of the commencement of work on the line of said railroad, its bona fide stockholders were few in number, not exceeding in all some sixty or seventy; that the directors of the company were and have continued to be the largest stockholders, and now represent over two-thirds of its whole capital stock, and that when the contract was made under which the first 247 miles of the road was constructed, there was no Eastern railway connection for the transportation of iron, materials or supplies: the road was to be built through a new country destitute of resources for prosecuting such a work; the rebellion was in progress, the finances of the country in an unsettled state, iron and materials enormously high, labor difficult to obtain, and very great natural obstacles to be surmounted; that it soon became necessary to call upon the directors for very large cash advances to enable the Company to prosecute the work on the road, and frequently such advances made by the directors and other principal stockholders amounted to millions of dollars in money and credit; that in the year 1867 it became apparent that unless the principal parties in interest in the road would make further and larger advances, the work would be seriously retarded; and after full consultation with parties in interest it was determined to make a contract for the delivery and equipment of a large portion of its road; but inasmuch as it was supposed that this contract, although legally made in the interest and for the benefit of the stockholders, might be deemed objectionable unless ratified by the parties in interest, it was determined that it should receive the express sanction of the stockholders of the Company, and that such express consent and ratification has been obtained. That at the time such contract was made it was believed to be essential for the interests of the Government of the United States and of the Company that the road should be completed without the usual delays incident upon works of this character, and in accordance with this view, the road has been pushed ahead without regard to cost or the natural obstacles to be overcome, and to this liberality alone is the fact due that the line is now practically finished, at a cost, as anticipated in [illegible] ... [illegible] ... and by means of the enormous advances of money and credit (at times of a hazardous character) made by the [illegible] ... could not have been [illegible] ... the limited number of its own [illegible] ... taking the actual cost of the material and [illegible] as the basis of calculation, with a fair allowance for work still to be done by the contractors, the total profits earned or paid or agreed to be paid to the contractors of every kind without any allowance being made for the extraordinary hazards and risks so peculiar to this undertaking, and which at times in its early progress seemed almost insurmountable, are not so great as are commonly and properly paid upon similar contracts in the State of New-York, and will not, in the opinion of deponents, who have a full and complete knowledge of all the facts, amount in the aggregate to fifteen per cent. upon the actual cost of the work done and contracted to be done under contracts which are now sought to be invalidated. Deponent further says that all the allegations contained in the complaint of one Henry M. E. Comb against the Credit Mobilier of America, in so far as they conflict with the foregoing statements, are erroneous and untrue in fact.

OAKES AMES, CORNELIUS S. BUSHNELL,
THOMAS C. DURANT, SIDNEY DILLON,
JOHN B. ALLEY.

Dated April 5, 1869.

Mr. Allen, at the conclusion of the reading of the affidavit, moved that the proceedings pending before the Court be dismissed.

Mr. Stoughton, one of the counsel for the plaintiff, said the affidavit just read seemed to have two objects—the first to slander Mr. Fisk, and the second to whitewash the action of the directors of this Company. It was, doubtless, intended for the public ear, and to salve over the wounds which had been made on the Company. For their part they had no reason to believe that there were any two consecutive sentences in the affidavit which are true. He was amazed at the effrontery which his opponents had manifested in making such a motion. The affidavits read by the other side had nothing to do with the plaintiff's motion to postpone. The first part of the affidavit was devoted to an assault on Mr. Fisk. Counsel said he supposed Mr. Fisk belongs to the fallen race like all the rest of us. Like all of us he had the original sin upon him, and perhaps some sins not so original. There are several kinds of cowardice, but the meanest of all kinds was that where a party skulked under an affidavit of merits when a motion of this kind was brought on. The building of a railroad is a great public enterprise; it is commanding the attention of the whole civilized world, and it ought to be carried out and completed as the projectors designed it should be.

The counsel continued for some time to criticise the affidavit, and to animadvert upon the conduct of the officers of the Company in delaying the examination by "locking up the combination to the lock of the safe in one man's head, and then sending that man beyond the jurisdiction of the Court."

Mr. D. D. Field also spoke in regard to the affidavit, and the peculiar and most unusual circumstances under which it had been brought forth.

Mr. Allen replied. He said that the affidavit was a full answer to the complaint and the supplemental complaint filed by the plaintiff. The affidavit was made by five gentlemen well known not only in this City, but throughout the whole country. They are men whose word will be taken in the commercial world without the least hesitation. There was no reason why counsel should cast any suspicion upon their veracity. If his friend Stoughton had been in this case at the beginning, he would have seen a specimen on his side of that cowardice which he so strongly condemns. He concluded by remarking that there could be no doubt about this action. Though speculative in its character, it was instituted for vengeance.

Judge BARNARD said that inasmuch as the delay in examination before the referee had been occasioned by the inability of Mr. Durant, and the unwillingness of other officers, to open the safe, so that the books could be produced, he thought it no more than right to grant an order postponing the hearing to the third Monday. By that time the referee would doubtless be able to make his report.

Mr. Field then brought on the contempt case of Mr. John B. Alley, a Director of the Company. Interrogatories and cross-interrogatories were read, and Mr. Alley was put upon the stand and examined by Mr. Field. Nothing particularly new was elicited, however.

After some further discussion of little importance to the public, an adjournment was ordered until Tuesday at 10 A. M.

Proceedings Before the Referee.

The investigation in the matter of the Union Pacific Railroad was continued yesterday morning before the referee, Mr. Redfield. Mr. David Dudley Field appeared for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Charles Tracy, Clark Bell and McFarland for the defence.

John B. Alley, one of the directors of the Union Pacific Railroad, and formerly a member of Congress from Gen. B. F. Butler's district, in Massachusetts, examined by Mr. David Dudley Field, deposed as follows: I was present in the Court this morning when the affidavit of Mr. Durant was read; the statement that there have been but two dividends of six per cent., is true to the best of my knowledge; I should think that no other profits had been divided among the stockholders; my explanation is that the contract was made with certain parties who were stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad Company; and the profits upon the contract were to be divided among certain individuals, if any such profits were found to be made; they were to be stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad, and to make certain advances; and they were also stockholders in the Credit Mobilier, but were not to receive any profits; and on such contracts, it was agreed that the Credit Mobilier should guarantee the contract and furnish advances of money, and for that were to receive 2½ per cent. commission, as well as interest upon the money upon the whole contract; the commission was about $1,200,000; the amount of contract was, I think, about $47,000,000; the commission has never been paid, the Credit Mobilier being unable to respond to the calls made upon it for money and so forth; that was all the Credit Mobilier had to do with it; certain allotments were made to individuals (most of whom were stockholders of the Credit Mobilier) of surplus funds on hand, with an agreement given by every one that such allotment should be returned if needed to complete the contract, and very large amounts have been loaned in another form, which were regarded as answering for the time being the purposes of the agreement; so that most of these parties have loaned to the Union Pacific Railroad Company, or the contractors, (I don't know which,) a much larger sum than they have received in any shape from the Company or from the parties in interest; it is impossible to tell what were the profits upon the contract, as it is not completed, and the profits, if any, must consist chiefly in the value of the stock; that will probably be all they will get; the "parties in interest" are the stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, except Brigham Young, and one or two persons of small amounts, whose names I do not recollect; the contract was made originally with Mr. Oakes Ames; the Company was in that condition that it required very large advances, and it was necessary to have strong parties of very large means to put the road through; it was an unconditional contract, (so far as being made with him solely,) and as I have said before, the Credit Mobilier proposed to make some large advances, and to guarantee the contract to its faithful fulfillment, for which they were to receive this commission of which I have before spoken; Mr. Ames subsequently concluded to transfer the contract to seven trustees, provided it was satisfactory to the railroad company, and it being subsequently made satisfactory to all the stockholders, (except Brigham Young, and I have no knowledge of his dissatisfaction,) it was so transferred, or assigned rather; the fulfillment has been carried on in the same way as any other contract; I have no particular knowledge of it, but my general knowledge of the matter leads me to believe that it has been fulfilled as such contracts usually are; I think the Credit Mobilier guaranteed no part of the road but that on the other side of the one hundredth meridian; the road was contracted for and equipped up to the one hundredth meridian before I came into the Company, which was in October, 1867; I came into the Credit Mobilier in May, five months before; in the Credit Mobilier I have 290 shares, and in the Union Pacific Railroad I have about 2,200 shares; I acquired 1,000 shares by purchases from stockholders; the remaining 1,100 or 1,200 I obtained under the allotment, as a stockholder in the Union Pacific Railroad; this was growing out of the allotment before alluded to; my interest in the contracts arise from my being a stockholder in the Union Pacific Railroad, and I am to receive whatever of profits should be made, if any—which is very doubtful now—my pro rata share, that is, provided I comply with all the conditions of the contract; I should also receive whatever may be paid to the Credit Mobilier in the way of commission on the guarantee and advances; but I do not expect that the Credit Mobilier will receive anything, inasmuch as it was unable to make the required advances.

Mr. Field—Then the stock in the Union Pacific Railroad for which you paid amounted to 1,000 shares, and that 1,100 or 1,200 shares are allotments or dividends for which you paid nothing?

Witness—Why, yes, I did pay—that is, I paid indirectly a good deal in the shape of loans and advances, &c.; I mean just this, that I received these from the parties to whom this contract was assigned, in consideration of being a stockholder in the Union Pacific Railroad Company and a stockholder of the Credit Mobilier, and having agreed to this contract and also agreeing to do other things. The seven trustees to whom the contract was assigned were: Oliver Ames, Thomas C. Durant, Sidney Dillon, C. S. Bushnell, Benjamin E. Bates, Henry S. McComb and John Duff; they paid the Company for the shares they gave to me; I think they paid par for them; I suppose they made part of the payment out of the profits they made on the contracts, and the other part they got from the stockholders—myself and others; I loaned them considerable; I don't think on a final settlement the profits will be so large as they supposed.

Mr. Field—Do you mean to say that you loaned the trustees money to buy the stock with?

Witness—I mean to say I have loaned them a great deal of money from first to last, and I suppose they bought stock with it; the money I lent was to be repaid with interest; I have not been repaid by the trustees within a very large amount; I cannot separate the accounts, but I suppose that the Union Pacific Railroad and the Credit Mobilier owe me about $160,000; I don't know that I ought to mention this, for it might affect my credit.

Mr. Field—Not it. I don't think if it were a million it would affect your credit, Mr. Alley.

Witness—I have security for part of the loan, not for the whole. I should say about two-thirds of it is secured. I do not consider that the 1,100 or 1,200 shares of the stock are payment to me; I have received two dividends from the Credit Mobilier of six per cent. each; I have received one allotment from the contractors of the Union Pacific Railroad subject to call, in case it is needed, of I think [illegible] or [illegible] in bonds and money; I never received any schedule or statement showing what the money was for; the trustees informed me that an allotment had been made to me, and I received it from their Treasurer, Mr. B. F. Terrible Tales

OF WOE AND INEXPRESSIBLE

AGONY!

STATEMENTS FROM RUPTURED PERSONS of their experience from the use of Dr. MARSH'S RADICAL IVORY BALL TRUSS as related to Dr. SHERMAN, to whom they applied for relief and cure on this day, (April 1,) and who are now patients entered on his books.

Mr. N. H. TAYLOR, Atlantic City, N. J.; been ruptured thirty-five years, suffered almost death from the use of Marsh's Radical Cure Truss, but being persuaded inflammation would cure, endured it for three years; called repeatedly on Dr. Marsh who became indifferent and would not attend to him; told Dr. Marsh his Truss would kill him, could not possibly endure it longer; became discouraged, and as Marsh refused to make him a Relief Truss for less than thirty dollars, after all his suffering, he went and got Benjamin's Truss; was sure Marsh knew little if anything about Rupture from the way he managed his case; often saw persons come to Marsh's office that made his heart ache, their cases being so much worse than his—they got no satisfaction; he had seen Dr. SHERMAN'S advertisement repeatedly, had seen it in the New-York Tribune; knew everything recommended by could be relied upon. If it had not been for the recommendation of Mr. Horace Greeley would not have come, having been so often misled.

If the above is terrible, the injury inflicted upon Mr. J. T. N. is most horrible. The interested should profit by these honest revelations.

Mr. J. T. N., now of Winston, Conn., has been ruptured seventeen years, used various trusses without relief, among others Marsh's Radical Cure Truss, which he said was very painful, so much so that at first he could only wear it at short intervals; but thinking it necessary to persist in it, he became by so doing a little used to the terrible pressure, but his rupture got no better, although he endured immense chafing and inflammation—inflammation, being told him, was necessary for the cure. He complained of the injury that had been done by the hard pressure of the back pad upon his spine, and that he suffers more now from the injury to his spine than from the rupture; that for the last six months he has been mostly confined to his bed, has had no courage to do anything and leads a miserable and useless existence, although in the prime of life and otherwise in good health.

Mr. N. was at the office Friday, April 2, jubilant with the advantages which he found from the use of Dr. SHERMAN'S appliance.

Who is there that will not conclude that if injury is to be inflicted upon the spine in an attempted relief for rupture, that the remedy is not worse than the disease! Injury to the back affects the whole body.

Mr. J. F., of this City, used Marsh's Truss, off and on, for the past seven years, with a great deal of suffering and inconvenience. It hurt his back and abdomen, chafed and inflamed him badly. It was impossible sometimes to endure it; got worse instead of better from the use of it, as, notwithstanding the heavy pressure, his rupture would sometimes slip from under it and hurt him terribly; thought it was worse than if he had nothing; was glad now to find something that would relieve him; had been uneasy since a friend of his died, in the Bellevue Hospital, from

STRANGULATIVE

RUPTURE!

Mr. J. A. M., of Waverley, Iowa; been ruptured about 16 years; used Marsh's Radical Cure Truss a long time; wanted now to get something he could wear with comfort; after examination and explanation, being convinced of the superiority and untold advantages of Dr. SHERMAN'S appliance, decided to avail himself of the advantages of it.

Yesterday, March 31, Mr. F. B. L., of Oswego, N. Y., among others, applied to Dr. SHERMAN for relief. He had also been a victim to the use of Marsh's Truss, without any improvement in his rupture; would not stand it any longer, and decided, after examination, to avail himself of the advantages of Dr. SHERMAN'S method, notwithstanding he was very dubious, from having tried all kinds of trusses. This evening, April 1, this gentleman called in at Dr. SHERMAN'S office and expressed the greatest satisfaction in having at last found what he had so long sought for.

Mr. L. called on Dr. SHERMAN Friday, April 2, previous to leaving the City, and reported unbounded satisfaction.

submits these various statements to the public, in justice to the afflicted, that they may avert similar misfortunes, and not with a view of injuring Dr. Marsh or any one else. They are simple statements to which the public have a right, and to withhold them would be an abuse of the confidence which the public has placed in him.

Dr. SHERMAN'S $10 truss is warranted better than Marsh's $40 truss.

Dr. SHERMAN is daily at his office, No. 697 Broadway, relieving ruptured patients by the application of his Rupture Appliances and Curative Compound. For illustrated pamphlets of photographic likenesses of bad cases, before and after treatment, inclose ten cents.
